Congratulations to the following persons/businesses celebrating special achievements:

Williams Mill Visual Art Centre

The Village of Glen Williams is one of Halton Hills most unique hamlets. Established in 1825 the village still retains many of its original buildings. The Williams Mill was a former saw mill, electric power plant and for many years was an apple processing plant. It has now been transformed into studios and galleries and is home to over 30 artisans. Doug and Mary Lou Brock owners of the Mill had a vision to transform the former industrial buildings into the stunning arts centre that you see today. Recently Williams Mill announced that they received a Trillium Grant to continue building on the vision to make the Mill an even greater tourist and shopping attraction.
