

Expect the unexpected at GLIC's Improv Night

If you are interested in having a hilariously good time, you won't want to miss this once-a-summer chance to see the Georgetown Little Improv Club (GLIC) perform at the Georgetown Little Theatre Studio.

These talented and wacky individuals have been bringing the funny for the past four summers. GLIC is for anyone who likes to laugh and has no fear.

Improvisation is the fine art of being ready to go at a moment's notice — it teaches confidence and promotes creativity through supporting your teammates. It helps hone comic timing and improve storytelling skills. Improv has endless possibilities and GLIC (try to) keep it fun for the whole family.

Who wouldn't want to spend an evening laughing? Who knows, you may get called on stage...

The show runs Thursday August 25 at

2010 GLICers make a new friend? Clockwise, from top left, Adam Norton, Pam Cooper, Shannon McMullin, Sam Hancock, and Stuart Martin. Photo submitted

8 p.m. at the GLT studio at 33 Stewarttown Road. Tickets are available at the door: $10 or PWYC (Pay What You Can).

Walter Used To Eat Frozen Dinners Alone

Now he enjoys a varied menu and great company

Mealtime was mostly a chore for Walter. Living alone, he would simply choose what was easiest to prepare and eat it in front of the TV. Nutrition was rarely a consideration.

At Chartwell, the chef changes the menu daily, so Walter not only gets to choose from a variety of balanced meals, but he enjoys them with a sidedish of laughter and conversation.

Call to reserve your table for lunch or dinner & see what Walter is talking about!!

Open for personal visits 6 days a week.
