

Members of the Gaudeamus Choirs Chamber Choir perform recently in Georgetown.

Gaudeamus Choirs provides special ensemble just for boys

The Chamber Choir of the Gaudeamus Children's Choir, the most senior choir in the Gaudeamus family of choirs, competed in the 2011 Guelph Kiwanis Festival and received a Gold Medal standing and the Royal City Ambassadors Choir Scholarship.

In looking forward to the 2011-12 year, the choir is now accepting new singers of all ages who love to sing.

There is a Music Makers program for ages 6-8, an Intermediate Choir for ages 9-12, and a Senior Chamber Choir for ages 13 and over.

There is also a Boys Ensemble, a special opportunity for boys who enjoy singing to make music in a comfortable and safe atmosphere. The boys attend specific music festival for boys, participating with other boys choirs. In the sports-minded Georgetown, many have advised that it's too much of a sports town to have a boys choir, but there are boys out there who would enjoy a singing experience!

The Gaudeamus Choirs engage in music making opportunities with other youth choirs, take part in twice annual concerts, outdoor retreats, benefit concerts, and welcome guest artists to perform with the choirs.

For information about the choirs please contact the conductor, Diane Murray-Charrett, 416-895-2697, or gaudemus@cogeco.ca.

Casting Call for Pantomime

Villains and good guys, old and young and everything in between, are invited to attend when Century Theatre Guild casts Mother Goose by Margaret Eggleton Kaye, this year's traditional English pantomime, on Wednesday, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Century Church Theatre, Hillsburgh.

There are roles for all ages including Mother Goose and other nursery rhyme characters and the show includes plenty of comedy, dancing, great songs to sing.

Rehearsals will be on Sunday afternoons and Wednesday evenings, with young children not called for most weekdays. Show dates are November 18-20, and 25-27.

For good fun, good friends, and some good theatre training, join this dynamic group for the 7th annual pantomime.

For details, call director Jo Phenix, 519-855-4586, or www.century-churchtheatre.com

Auditions for kids

DYT Productions Performance Studio, a Brampton-based group, hosts two sets of auditions, one for the rock vocal groups, and another for the comedy troupes.

The Hooligans and The Thugs are the improv/sketch troupes at DYT and are looking for funny, talented improvisors with a good work ethic to join their comedy teams!

Auditions for The Thugs & The Hooligans take place on Sept. 12 while auditions for Rock Candy and The Rock Crew take place Sept.13.

To book an audition time: Kristine Marchese, 416-712-2749 or dytps@dyt-productions.com. Info: www.dytproductions.com.
