

Twenty Pieceful Years

Halton Hills Quilters' Guild 20th Anniversary Show

Marg Brown, Vicki Bridgen and Ulda Keleris stand before a colourful display of quilts that will be donated to local charities.

BELOW: Joan Lovegrove won an award for best use of colour for this quilt, titled Looks Like My Garden Exploded.

Halton Hills Quilters' Guild celebrated its 20th anniversary with Twenty Pieceful Years, a quilt show that took place October 14 and 15 at the Croatian Centre. Local quilt-makers put their passion on display at the show, which included hundreds of quilts and quilted items in a wide variety of styles and themes – from small country table-runners to large three-dimensional bed quilts. With vendors, home-made crafts and a tasty tea room, there was something for quilt-makers and non-quilters alike. Happy quilting!
