

Tree raffle to aid Hospital Foundation

Dini Lamers, owner of Dini & Co, 56 Main St. S. in Georgetown, stands beside the "Snowing Tree", which is the prize in a raffle benefitting the Georgetown Hospital Foundation. "We have had an enormous response regarding the Snowing Tree," says Lamers. "People have been coming with their children from all over and telling friends to come and see the tree. Almost feels like the Eaton's Christmas display window!" Due to this response, Dini & Co has decided to raffle a brand new tree in its original box (included are lights, snow, ornaments, and it also plays music—value $250). Tickets are $5 each, available at the store until the draw, set for Dec. 12 at 4 p.m. The winning ticket will be pulled by K.C. Carruthers, the Foundation's executive director.
