Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

A message from Elaine Turkington

-  To My Family, Friends and Clients
This year I have a recipe for Moving
-  It's the perfect time to clean out the closet. Pass along what you don't wear by recycling, re-use & redistribute. There are lots of charitable organizations that will be happy to take your things. What a great gift to help someone in need at a special time of year.
-  Start purging now, even if you're not moving, it will save you so much time and effort when the time comes to make a move. Pack away things you don't use often. Use clear containers so if you can't read the label you can see what's inside. You'll be glad you did!
-  Whenever you bring something new home, be sure to take something out. When you find there are so many things and so little room you know there is still work to be done. When moving "Less is More".
-  Last but not least try doing what I call the "Dump Run". Take whatever is left over to the local waste disposal site. They take everything and anything that you feel has no further use. It's safe, economical, and environmentally friendly. Try it, you'll like it.
-  For more information on Moving Tips, Buying and Selling Real Estate visit my website at www.etsellshomes.ca or call me for more information on taking the next step.

Remember I recently moved to iProRealty Ltd.
