

Nominations being accepted for Georgetown Citizen of Year

The Georgetown Lions Club is on the "hunt" looking for that special person, couple or organization that, through their volunteerism, is worthy to be named Georgetown's Citizen of the Year.

This year marks the 40th anniversary of the award, which has been given to those who have made a significant contribution to the quality of life in Georgetown.

The award can be given to an individual, couple, group or organization that has served our community as an outstanding volunteer, in sports, culture, health or social services.

Many times the recipients have volunteered in multiple organizations over many years.

To nominate an outstanding volunteer send a letter or use the application form and return it to Lions Club Citizen of the Year, P.O. Box 73, Georgetown L7G 4T1, or email dpenrice@sympatico.ca by February 15. Forms are available from Lion Doug Penrice.

Past nominations are carried forward for two years and will be reconsidered.

The awards dinner will be held March 27, at the Lions Hall with presentations from the Lions Club and all levels of government.

For more information contact Penrice at 905-873-8469.

Space available for teens in PEACE program

Any teens in Halton Region who want to learn more about policing should consider taking part in the 2012 PEACE program offered by Halton Regional Police.

The program is for people who would like to understand more about the police, ethnicity and culture, interested in a career in policing or wondered what police do, how they prevent and investigate crime and what the different units within the service are responsible for.

The program is open to youth aged 15 to 18. There are still spots available for the Winter Police Ethnic And Cultural Education (PEACE) program that runs from 6:30 to 9 p.m. every Tuesday night for 10 weeks, between Jan. 24 and March 27.

More information on this free, voluntary program can be found at www.haltonpolice.ca and by clicking on Diversity. Complete the application form and send, fax or email it to the Diversity Coordinator at the contact information on the form.
