

Holiday Magic on Main Street

ABOVE: Danielle Onisto and Sean Munro catch up with Jolly Old St. Nick.
BELOW: Evan and Jane Colby test out their cookie decorating skills at Heather's Bakery.

ABOVE: Fannie the Elf hands out holiday treats in front of Party Balloons and Gifts.
BELOW: Calum and Paul Bryan experience the holiday magic.

Members of the Georgetown Choral Society strike a pose as they hit the final notes of Jingle Bells.

Maja Nenadovic displays her handiwork at Feet in Motion.

The streets were alive with the sound of Christmas carols on December 8 during Downtown Georgetown's annual Holiday Magic on Main Street. Families flocked to the downtown core where they snacked on tasty holiday cookies, sipped hot chocolate and warm apple cider, climbed aboard for horse-drawn wagon rides, sang along with the carollers, checked out the street entertainers and enjoyed the infamous Downtown Georgetown hospitality. No Christmas celebration would be complete without a visit with Santa Claus, who was on hand for photos and holiday wishes.

Photos by Andrea Lefebvre

Olde Fashioned Christmas

Acton was transported back in time on December 10 when the town celebrated an Olde Fashioned Christmas. The afternoon started with a community carol sing with the Acton Citizens Band and the festivities continued with old-fashioned entertainment like horse-drawn wagon rides with Santa, gingerbread house decorating at Roxy Coffee and an outdoor ball hockey game on Willow Street. Merry Olde Fashioned Christmas, Acton!

Photos by Andrea Lefebvre

ABOVE: Spider-Man (a.k.a. Jayson Dee) protects the ball hockey rink from any lurking villains.

LEFT: Aaron Coleman makes a big save in the ball hockey game on Willow Street.

RIGHT: Acton Optical won the Acton BIA's holiday window decorating contest. On hand for the presentation are (from left) judge Inez Brennan, Acton Optical owner Nancy Wilkes, and judges Gerald Rennie and Dan Dolliver.

LEFT: The festive members of the Acton Citizens Band lead a carolling session at the parkette.
RIGHT: Kiara and Malia Mapp strike a pose with their gingerbread masterpiece.

Bratin Auto

TECH-NET
Profession
AUTOMOTIVE

82 Main St. N.,
Georgetown
905-873-6127
To book an appointment.

WINTER MAINTENANCE SPECIAL

Includes oil change, tire rotation,
battery test, 30 point inspection
(on most vehicles)

$39.95

Expires January 31, 2012