Pair charged with damaging sports field

Two Georgetown males have been charged in connection with the joyriding incident on the sports fields at Gellert Centre in December that caused about $10,000 damage.

The damage occurred early Dec. 28. About 4:22 a.m. a vehicle described as a black, dark blue or dark green Dodge Dakota was seen entering the parking lot at the Gellert Centre then heading onto the rugby field where it was driven in circles leaving deep grooves.

Police investigation resulted in officers arresting the two accused males last Tuesday.

Charged with mischief over $5,000 are Mitchell Saunders, 18, and Corey Morgan, 20.

Deep tire grooves were left in the sports field at the Gellert Centre in December after someone drove a truck across the grounds.

Wallace protest taken to board office

When the Halton District School Board apparently would not grant an audience to a group of students from Georgetown District High School, the group took it upon themselves to be heard anyway. Approximately 30 students and parents from the school held a peaceful—and musical—rally at a board of trustees meeting Wednesday night hoping to get trustees and staff to listen to their request to bring back their beloved music teacher, Eleanor Wallace. Wallace and another musical department teacher were transferred from the school in early December. Wallace was moved from the school to one in Burlington after serving at
