March Break tradition: Teen-led 30 Hour Famine

More than 50 students will be engaging in global issues at a World Vision 30 Hour Famine event tomorrow (Wednesday).

Students will start the 30 Hour Famine individually on today (Tuesday) at 4 p.m., and will finish the 30 Hour Famine together, Wednesday, 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. at Georgetown Alliance Church, 290 Main St. S.

This action-packed day will feature games, art, music, a graffiti artist, a dodge ball tournament and more. The event is expected to raise $3,000 to fight child poverty through World Vision's long-term development programs.

"Year after year we've seen Georgetown teens step up to fight child poverty through the 30 Hour Famine. This year is no exception— with youth across Georgetown coming together to make a difference during their March Break," Yvette Brettell, World Vision Canada.

The World Vision 30 Hour Famine is the world's biggest anti-poverty youth fundraiser, with more than 60,000 Canadians and more than 500,000 students around the world going hungry to take a bite out of child poverty. Visit www.famine.ca or World Vision 30 Hour Famine Facebook group.

"Not by the hair of my chinny chin chin!" These words haunted us as children. They signaled the screeching huff and puff of the legendary wolf who blew houses down. Today, those words haunt us for another reason: They remind us of the silly! hairs on our chinny chin chin. Remove the unwanted hair with today's WagJag: $60 for a laser hair removal session on the chin, upper and lower lip, neck, cheeks and sideburns at Donna's Laser & Spa (a $226 value).

Laser hair removal at Donna's is performed by a highly-trained medical aesthetician, using the safest, most technologically-advanced equipment. Hairs are evaporated from below the surface thanks to the virtually-painless, glazing beam of the laser. The treatment requires no down time, and after a certain amount of sessions, hair re-growth is significantly slowed down. This deal allows you to buy up to two vouchers to target the specific areas of the upper and lower lip, neck, cheeks, sideburns and chinny chin chin.

Besides laser hair removal, clients who step into the pristine, welcoming environment at Donna's Laser & Spa have the chance to indulge in a variety of facial treatments such as diamond microdermabrasion, chemical peels, a strandless face lift and old-fashioned, deep-cleansing facials. Please call ahead to book your appointment.
