Plucky teen battles Lyme disease

Gail says Vanessa's doctor is optimistic she will be able to control the disease. They hope by telling Vanessa's story it may help someone else who may be unaware they have the disease.

One of the toughest things through it all, Vanessa said, is "just being stuck in the house all the time" because she's too ill or tired to go out. Not being able to participate in sports has also been difficult for her as she used to enjoy playing soccer, basketball and volleyball.

Vanessa is particularly grateful for her little sister Morgan and boyfriend Liam.

"Liam and Morgan have been my best friends throughout all this," she said.

She has been doing her studies from home and is currently taking four classes and figures she will only be about a semester behind her friends when they graduate.

"She's so strong, her friends are great," said Gail.

"There's not a day that she doesn't wake up with a smile on her face," said Gail.
