

Springing into motion

Nine-year-old Carter Gadbois of Georgetown leads the field at the start of the one-kilometre Kids Fun Run recently at the Gellert Community Centre as part of the annual Spring in Motion 5Km Run/Walk. Funds raised were directed to the Halton Hills Jumpstart chapters which helps families participate in local recreational programs.

Annual Police Day set for Saturday

The Halton Regional Police Service is inviting residents to the 13th annual Police Day on Saturday, May 12, at police headquarters in Oakville.

The celebration of policing in Halton will take place at 1151 Bronte Rd. from 10 a.m.-2 p.m., rain or shine with both indoor and outdoor venues offered.

The event, themed Policing a Diverse and Inclusive Community, will see demonstrations from the Halton Police Tactical Rescue Unit, K-9 unit, and from the unmanned aerial vehicle used by the Forensic Identification Unit. The Halton Police Training Unit will also host a display. Lick's restaurant will host a barbecue.

Young children will be able to visit the Children's Safety Village where they can try driving on a closed course while being taught important safety tips.

For more information, visit www.haltonpolice.ca.
