

Aid for Africa

Students at Gardiner Public School in Georgetown recently established a "Me To We" diversity club and their first project was to raise funds and collect a variety of items for their African sister school. With the support of staff and parent volunteers, Gardiner P.S. raised about $2,200 and accumulated 40 boxes of items such as school supplies, soccer uniforms and toys for the 200 students age 5-15 at Aflao-Aglekpui Basic School, located in Ghana. Pictured above are Gardiner student parliament members (front, from left): Stephanie Intzempelis, Zariah Walker. Back row: Shama Pirbay, Ben Abram, Matthew Maxin, Danielle Grant and Madison Boyd.
