NEW DENTURES CAN ERASE WRINKLES

Vertical wrinkles around the mouth may be caused by ill-fitting dentures. False teeth that may once have fit well, change considerably as time goes by. When no teeth are present, the gum and bone tissue become unnecessary and nature removes them. They shrink upward, therefore causing the cheek to sag. Wrinkling and gauntness in the face are two things you must deal with as you grow older, but old or ill-fitting dentures can be responsible for some of these

Because your gums constantly shrinking, you must update and change your dentures regularly, in order to keep them fitting snug, which fills out the face, therefore smoothing out wrinkles. The unattractive appearance is not the only problem with poor fitting dentures. The incorrect bite often causes discomfort or pain. Ear and jaw joint pain, soreness in opening the mouth and headaches are caused by poor fitting teeth. This pain can produce a constant tenderness in the facial muscles, which in turn can contribute to a premature drawn, aged look. It is important to have your dentures checked on a regular basis.
