Arena fundraising target is $2 million

The Halton Hills Arena Users Group (HHAUG) has announced its leadership team for the Stay Home and Play in Halton Hills Campaign with the goal of raising $2 million for new ice surfaces in town.

Co-chaired by Bob Hooper and Finn Poulstrup, with support from honorary chair and Halton Hills Councillor Bryan Lewis, this 12-member team will be responsible for implementing and managing the $2 million capital fundraising campaign which is in support of the major expansion projects for Mold-Masters SportsPlex and the Acton Arena and Community Centre.

Over the last few months, HHAUG has been in the preparation phase of the campaign, actively involved in organizational readiness, recruitment and initial solicitation activity. Other members of the team include Carson Mininch, Steve Highfield, Joanne Cooper, Joseph Gushue, Ron Lefebvre, Jon Hurst and Dave Kentner.
