Teen thanks Sick Kids with tasty donation

As a thank-you to The Hospital for Sick Children for all the care she's received there, a 16-year-old Georgetown girl is running a lemonade stand to raise money for neurosurgery research at the hospital.

Bethany Winter, who is globally developmentally delayed and physically challenged as a result of being born with a congenital occipital encephalocele, a neurological disorder, is selling lemonade, with help from her mom Carla and worker Holly Girvan at their home at 11373 Fifth Line.

"Bethany is a gift to us and brings us much joy," said Carla. "She's an absolute delight and is a blessing to anybody who has had the privilege of meeting her."

She said her daughter has "been a part of the Sick Kids family for the past 16 years," and will be moving on to another hospital when she reaches 18.

Over the years, Bethany, a student at Georgetown District High School, has had 23 surgeries and is back at Sick Kids often for checkups.
