... Lend
Me Your Ears

FOOD ALLERGIES MAY CAUSE EAR INFECTIONS

If your child suffers from frequent ear infections, and you can't pin point the cause, it may be something he/her ate. It's recently been found that food allergies may trigger ear infections, which left untreated can cause hearing loss.

The allergies create mucous congestion in the nose, which then flows into the tube connecting the nose to the ears. Eventually the tube gets blocked and infection causing bacteria grow.

To determine if food allergies are causing your child's ear infection have him/her tested. Once the troublesome food is discovered your physician can suggest alternatives. And take heart, kids often outgrow food allergies – and their tendency towards ear infections.

Former Park principal honoured by ETFO

Kathy Clarke, a teacher, vice-principal and principal with the Halton District School Board, was honoured by her colleagues recently when she was awarded an Honorary Life Membership in the Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario (ETFO) at its annual meeting in Toronto.

Honorary Life Memberships, the Federation's highest form of recognition, are given to members who have retired from the education profession and who have given outstanding service to the Federation.

Clarke began her 42-year career in education as a teacher in Halton, and retired in 2010 as principal of Park Public School in Georgetown. She has always lived by the saying "when a door opens, you walk through the threshold". That philosophy led her to serve on the executive of the Halton Women Teachers' Association (WTA) in 1994, and become its president in 1996. In 1997, she became the first president of the Halton Teacher Local.

Clarke joined the provincial executive of ETFO in 1999 and was elected as a vice-president in 2002. At the provincial executive table, she was never shy about challenging issues or taking a strong stand. Her time with ETFO offered her insights into provincial politics and the challenges that a teacher organization faces in difficult times.

Since retiring Clarke has continued to do contract work for the Halton District School Board, travel extensively, and, most importantly, become a grandmother.
