Battle at the barbecue

Three-year-old Owen Lewis (left) stands his ground against big brother Ryan, 5, as the pair do battle with balloon swords during Saturday's third annual barbecue hosted by Realtor Ray Chesher at his 75 Guelph St. office. Along with a variety of games, visitors were able to enter a raffle for a Fiat 500 the Rotary Club of Georgetown is raffling to raise money for Universally Accessible Children's Playground equipment.

The public phase of the Halton Hills Cultural Centre and Library capital campaign kicked off with a $150,000 donation from Larry and Brenda Sisnett at Monday's council meeting.

The Campaign, chaired by Brenda Sisnett, has set a $1 million goal to raise funds for the Halton Hills Cultural Centre and Library at 9 Church St. The $14 million project will create 51,000 sq. ft. of renovated and expanded space. It is targeted for completion in December 2012 and opening to the public in January.

"Larry and I saw this as a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to carry on the legacy that my mother began 31 years ago with her donation which created the John Elliott Theatre in my dad's memory," said Brenda Sisnett, President and CEO of Georgetown Terminal Warehouses, Elliott Custom Brokers and Storage and a longtime Georgetown resident.

"The library, theatre and art gallery have always been special places to us and to this community. We are so happy to be a part of what will be a stunning new facility for all of Halton Hills residents to enjoy."
