

Terry Fox Runs set for Sunday

Sunday marks the 32nd annual Terry Fox Run, and once again there be two Run sites here— one in Acton and the other in Georgetown.

This year's theme is 'working together to outrun cancer'," said longtime Acton volunteer Jon Hurst.

He said it's not just a run, as participants can determine their own pace, length and mode of movement (walk, bike, rollerblade or wheelchair). He added that people can get involved just by sponsoring someone else.

The two local sites are:

- Acton High School, 21 Cedar Rd., 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Bicycle and wheelchair accessible.

- Georgetown: Gellert Centre, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Bicycle, rollerblade and wheelchair accessible.

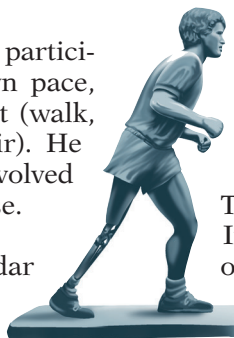

There is no entry fee to participate and no minimum donation. Go to www.terryfoxrun.org for details, to download a pledge sheet or to donate.

"Thirty two years ago when I began working with the Terry Fox Run, I had hoped, and believed, that cancer would be beaten in my lifetime," said Hurst. "Well, I'm not getting any younger, so I am asking why not join us on Sunday to help further the important research to reach our goal."

Hurst said 84 per cent of the funds raised go directly to Terry Fox Foundation Research Institute, which funds cure-oriented cancer research. Last year, the Terry Fox Foundation allocated $27.5 million to various cancer research programs. In Ontario, projects at Hospital for Sick Children, Ontario Cancer Institute, Princess Margaret Hospital and Sunnybrook Hospital were among those that benefited.
