Guelph arsonist charged with attempted murder

A Guelph man has been charged with the attempted murder of two people after he set fire to part of their home early Tuesday morning.

Guelph City police responded to a house fire on Victoria Rd. North and discovered a fire contained mainly to one bedroom of the home, Staff Sgt. Deeves said. Three of the residents were badly burned and taken to Guelph General Hospital.

Jacolena Kaulback, 39, and her daughter Julie, 16, were transferred to Hamilton General Hospital, where they were listed in critical condition in the burn unit on Tuesday. Kaulback's son, 19-year-old Michael, was listed in serious condition at Guelph General with serious burns to his hands, arms and face, according to police.

The suspected arsonist was arrested a short time later by the Milton OPP detachment on Highway 401 near Kelso. He was taken to Milton General Hospital for the treatment of burns to his hands, and then transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in Guelph, where he was under police guard.

Guelph Police are not aware of any motive to the crime, Sgt. Deeves said. "We are aware the suspect and the victim knew each other, but that is all," he added.

Charged with two counts of attempted murder and one count of setting fire to a substance likely to cause a building to burn is 46-year-old Edward Dakin of Guelph, a former head of the Guelph Real Estate Board.
