Chimney fire

A small fire ignited in a chimney of a Cotswold Crt. home in Georgetown Sunday morning, according to the fire department. The fire was contained to the chimney, but the owner was advised to have it inspected and repaired before using it again.

Rubbish fire

Firefighters responded to a Fourth Conc. home Tuesday afternoon after they were notified that the owner was burning garbage, tires and shingles without a permit. They extinguished the fire and informed the owner that a permit must first be obtained from the fire department before burning is allowed.
