

Friends and family observe Gordon and Agnes Miller's 50th

By KAY WILSON

Gordon and Agnes Miller of Norval, were honored last Sunday, by members of Norval United Church, on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Following the morning service, Gordon and Agnes were presented with a beautiful cut glass vase and roses. Cake and ice cream were enjoyed by everyone.

The Millers are devoted members of Norval United church and Agnes was church treasurer for several years, as well as a life member of Unit One.

The Millers were married on Nov. 5, 1940 at Arkona, Ont. near Agnes' home town of Thedford.

They met while Agnes was employed as a school teacher at Armstrong, Ont. and Gordon was working as a prospector in Northern Ontario.

Agnes had been sent to Savant Lake to preside over the regional entrance examinations, and Gordon had come into town to replenish his supplies.

For the first six years of their married life, they lived in Val-d'Or, Quebec, and moved with their three children to their present home at Norval in 1946.

Gordon continued in mining explorations throughout Northern Canada. His mining career spans 64 years. He was employed by Conwest Explorations for 40 years and still continues to do consulting work for them. He served for several years on the executive of the Prospectors and Developers Association.

The Millers' family, Ken of Norval, Margaret and her husband Ronald Walbank of Huntsville, and Bruce and his wife Liz of Rockwood, assisted their parents when 30 close family members were entertained on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 4. Their three grandchildren - K.C. Walbank, and Danny and Robbie Miller, all enjoyed the party too.

Congratulations and best wishes Gordon and Agnes from your man y Norval friends.

New baby

Congratulations to Bob and Mary Lou Vetro of RR1 Norval, on the birth of their baby girl Annie Rebekah, 8 lbs. 9 oz. at Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton, on Nov. 3. A little sister for Leah and Jordan. Proud grandparents are Gordon and Rosie Laidlaw and Dominic and Laura Vetro of Mississauga, both on their seventh grandchild.

Gordon and Agnes Miller celebrated their 50th anniversary recently with many family and friends attending a special dinner.
