

Bell books become environmentally friendly

Bell Canada's 1991 telephone directories begin arriving at homes and businesses throughout the area this week.

Bell reminds residents not to throw out the old books with the regular garbage; put them in your Blue Box. Bell and the Halton Waste Management Committee have worked out a system which will see the directories collected through the local Blue Box program.

Improvements introduced by Bell Canada and Tele-Direct, (the company which publishes the directories), have made the books fully recyclable.

In 1991, the directories will be even more environmentally friendly. The new books feature a cover made from recycled paper stock and the lighter weight 20 pound paper stock is bound with biodegradable glue.

Bell Canada has made a great deal of progress with its environmental programs in recent years, says Bob Shaver, Bell's business office manager for Credit Valley.

Other Bell initiatives include recycling programs in their buildings, implementation of a purchasing policy under which Bell buys products with recycled contents whenever possible and helping expand markets for recycled materials.

Bell and Tele-Direct are also funding $300,000 in research at Canadian universities to help find new uses for recycled directories. At present they are being converted into such products as insulation, packing materials, asphalt, cardboard boxes and egg cartons.

Have you performed an act of bravery?

Every year, the Halton Region Safety Council pays public tribute to citizens who, by their courage and without regard for their own interests, help to save lives.

Your assistance is requested to identify citizens of the community who have performed an act of bravery, in the saving or the attempted saving of another's life during 1990.

Nominations will also be accepted for individuals who have made an outstanding contribution to public safety over and above any job requirements.

All nominations will be forwarded to an awards committee who will make the final decision of those people who will receive awards. An awards banquet will be held March 21 at the North Halton Golf and Country Club. Nominations are to include the name and address of the nominee with a brief description of why you feel they should receive the award. Nominations must be received by February 10.

Mail nominations to: Constable Ken Hannah, Halton Regional Police, (11 Division), 217 Guelph St., Georgetown, Ont., L7G 4A9.
