Deadline nears for aspiring actors

The deadline for application to the National Theatre School is February 15, 1991. Application fee is $50. Candidates who wish to apply for admission to the courses for the 1991-92 school year (Acting, Directing, Design and Technical Production Sections) should contact the school in order to obtain application forms. The address is 5030 St. Denis St., Montreal, Quebec H2J 2L8 and the telephone number is (514) 842-7954.

The audition for the Acting Course consists of one scene from the classical repertoire (to be selected from a list provided by the school), and a contemporary scene (selected by the candidate).

The school also offers training in Directing; candidates must audition for the acting program, as well as submit a production concept of a selected play. Selected candidates enter into the first or second year of the program, depending on their level of experience.

At the time of their interview, candidates for the Technical Production and Design Sections will receive all the necessary details concerning the preparation of their entrance project. Design candidates are requested to present samples of their previous work in design, painting and drawing.

All students must have completed high school at the time of admission. No other former academic qualifications are required, but each applicant's educational background will be taken into consideration.

Acting and Technical Production students should be between the ages of 18 and 30 years of age. For the Design course, the minimum age is 18 but there is no upper age limit. For the Directing program, the minimum age is 20 but again, there is no upper age limit. Directing candidates are expected to have had a number of years of experience in one or several areas of the theatre, either in community, college, university or professional theatre.

Audition and interview results will be made known to the candidates in early June.
