

Sprucing up your yard

It's almost time to spruce up the backyard again, and CUSO is offering you a novel way to do so. Buy a small Colorado Blue Spruce for $5 (or five trees for $20), and you can beautify your garden as well as contribute to Third World reforestation.

The three-year old trees, eight to 12 inches high, will be on sale at Canadian Tire in Georgetown May 4 from 9 a.m. until noon. Each comes bagged in peat moss and complete with planting instructions and information on CUSO sustainable development projects.

An environmentally-aware Kingston couple - Al and Mary Sue Rankin - are working in partnership with CUSO on the project, titled Sprucing up the Globe. Last year, the Rankins raised thousands of dollars for two CUSO reforestation projects in Central America and Africa.

The project proved so successful that the Rankins are repeating it this year. In fact, they are expanding it - to the Ottawa valley and 11 southern Ontario cities.
