

Workshop in suicide intervention being offered as training ground

An intensive course to train professionals to provide a suicide intervention workshop will be held in Burlington in September.

The Suicide Intervention Training for Trainers course is being sponsored by the Canadian Mental Health Association, Halton Region Branch from Sept. 30 to Oct. 4 at Park Bible Church on Kerns Road in Burlington.

The five-day course is an experimental training program to certify trainers to conduct a Suicide Intervention Workshop. The intervention workshop is a two-day, practical training program which provides all caregivers with the attitudes, knowledge and skills to intervene in suicide situations.

The Training for Trainers course is presented by Living-Works Education, Inc. of Calgary, Alberta. This is the first time the Training for Trainers course has been conducted in this area.

The registration cost is $1,900 per person (plus GST) which includes five days of training, lunches and trainer materials.

For more information about the Training for Trainers course or the Suicide Intervention Workshop, please call Pearl Wolfe, executive director of CMHA, Halton at 845-5044.

Halton Hills Rec Department leader Scott Van De Valk is this week's winner of the Customer Service Award from the Georgetown Independent/Acton Free Press on behalf of the Rec Department. Scott will be enjoying a visit to Canada's Wonderland with his tickets for two.
