Georgetown soccer girls

Supporters of the Under-10 Atom girls soccer teams were envious last Thursday as they sat in the bleachers at Cedarvale to concentrate on soccer.

They were side tracked watching the Georgetown Fire Department fill their hoses and pumper truck with creek water, hoping that some spray would drift over. The heat had driven some parents to seek shade under the trees, leaving the coaches and the girls to run.

At mid-season now, we have lines on the fields and newly painted goal posts. Thank you Rod Taylor and Ken Sproule for dragging the fresh goal posts back to their field positions. Goalies swinging from the posts on Tuesday night got painted hands.

The Purple Municipal Trust team and the ReMax Realty Cool Blues played to a 4-0 score favoring the Purples. The goal scorers for the Purple Municipal Trust players included Bethan Elliott with two, Rachel Bryan-Maloney and Alyssa Taylor with one each. Alyssa's goal was a surprise kick from mid left field. These players were noteworthy along with Tasha Coates. Noteworthy players for the ReMax Realty Cool Blues were Angie Crane, Kira Lawrence and Sheena Weinbeck.

The Cool Blues will miss Sheena as a strong running forward when she moves soon. Cool Blue Annie Schaefer came to bring the halftime oranges. She is on the disabled list for a few games since she was kicking a soccer ball without her soccer boots on and broke her toe. Refereeing was well provided by Danay Guignard.

The Blue Dutch Nurseries Blue Sharks and the Green Hornets played a tight game with non-stop running from both teams.

The well played sportsmanlike game ended with a 1-0 score for the Greens with Janine Taylor as the Green Hornet scorer. Noteworthy players for the Dutch Nurseries Blue Sharks were Melissa Maveal, Alana Zelek and Kristina Zelek. The Green Hornets cited Karen Dillabough, Courtney Evers-Jordan and Cheryl Eagleson as noteworthy players.

The Tim Horton Donuts Red Devils had players come back from holiday full of vim and vigor. The Red Devil noteworthy players all got goals against the Milliere TV Golden Bullets. Leah Crane was credited with three goals as was Charlene Roche while Tara Rafferty and Deirdre McKee got one each. The Milliere TV Bullets were hot and hustling with only one substitute player but the Red Devils dominated 8-0. Playing well for the Bullets were Becky Sinnaeve, Jacquie Bajic and Ellen Smith.

Thank you's to Kerri Neilsen's Dad, who played linesman for one game and Jen Appar who blew the referee's whistle well for two games.

JULY 16

George & Dragon Yankees 12

Jim & Pat Akers Countrywide Tigers 16
Apart from Gerrard Purcell's three strikeouts in the third and flashy fielding by Jason Estevan, the Yankees-Tigers outing was a batter's game. Paul DiMarco, Estevan, Purcell and Adam Scuralli led Yankees' battery to 12 runs, with Estevan on one occasion legging it home from first.

On the Tigers' side, Aaron Greer, Jason Jack, David Leverette, Matt Rutherford, Adam Szlachta, Jason VanMeijel and Preston White all connected for a total of 16.

Mike Reed D.J. Angels 8

Blake Leavitt Expos 5

Although hitting by Ed Alcorn, Rob May, Adam Stoyles, Jesse Viens and Dan Whitton logged five runs, Expos were plagued with holes in the outfield. Brendan Alexa led Angels' bats with a home run and a triple, but it was Angels' fielding and pitching that pinned down the Expos. Chris Lahue's throw gained an out at first; Kevin Becker backed up two strong innings on the mound by hustling for a pop foul; and Scott Ellis secured the win by retiring Expos in order in two straight innings. Andrew Wright earned the save in the final two frames and topped off the game by slipping under a fly ball for the final out.

Halton Credit Union A's 7

Beaver Lumber Mets 1

Only Matt Hotham could make it across the plate as A's pitching staff served Mets a six-inning buffet of strike outs. Nick Johnston delivered three; Tom Allen, five; and Richard Cunningham, six. RBIs by Mike Madill and Jason Higgins, along with two fly ball catches by Jeff Russell topped off A's recipe for a 7-1 win.

JULY 18

George & Dragon Yankees 18

Beaver Lumber Mets 7

Defensive play by Paul DiMarco, Kris Noonan and Adam Scuralli combined with hits by DiMarco and Gerrard Purcell to earn Yankees seven runs, but Mets' bats came to life with the barrage that was lacking on Tuesday. Jason Campbell and Tyler Pearce led the hit parade with three and four respectively, while Matt Hotham's four-for-four night included a home run. Bryan Stuttgart and Nils Varga each pitched two no-hit innings and Mike Corbett backed up an outstanding job of catching by knocking in two of the Mets' 18 runs.

Jim & Pat Akers Countrywide Tigers 10
Halton Credit Union A's 5

A's pitchers Preston White, David Leverette and Matt Rutherford held Tigers for four innings, allowing only Jamie Larocque in after a well-hit double in the first. Meanwhile, despite good pitching by A's Jeff Russell and Richard Cunningham and some solid infield relays between the same two, Tigers had a profitable second inning, scoring four on hits by Chris Moss and Jason VanMeijel. In the third, Tigers were good for another three.

A's regained control in the scoreless fourth and advanced by one in the fifth on a Jason Higgins RBI. A's opened up in the sixth with another three runs, but Tigers also found three more, bringing the tally to 10-5, Tigers. Jason VanMeijel got the MVP nod for the game on the strength of seven RBIs.

Blake Leavitt Expos 6

J.V. Clothing Blue Jays 16

Expos showed infield hustle: Clay Prucyk threw to Simon Ford on third for a tag out going home; Matt Sykes, Jeff Meinen and Jesse Viens combined for a great relay play. Still, a powerful Blue Jay team scored 16 on hits by Justin Hunt (three RBIs), Dylan Lee (home run), Ian Murphy (three RBIs), and Andrew Peden (home run). Expos' John Murray and Jesse Viens had two and three RBIs, respectively, but six was the maximum for Expos against the flyball grabbing of Jays' Paul Larocque and Jason Watts.
