

HALTON/PEEL STEAMATIC

Steamatic clean choice for work and home

Every year thousands of businesses and home owners need to call on the services of a cleaning company. In the last nine years, these families and businesses have learned that the clear-cut, best choice for cleaning that does more than just remove dirt is Steamatic. What exactly is a total cleaning service? It's a service that includes air duct cleaning, carpet and furniture cleaning. The experts at Steamatic are backed by industry-leading technology and research chemistry. "Our equipment is patented," said owner Dave Manes. "We have a full-time research department that works to not only clean better, but to also leave a much cleaner environment." Just how good is the Steamatic approach to cleaning? It's guaranteed.

That commitment to the overall environment produces not only a cleaner work or home environment, but also one that's healthier, and safer to both live and work in.

Steamatic uses truck-mounted equipment that is based upon a 205 degree circulating hot water system. This system removes up to 95 per cent of the bacteria in carpets and furniture leaving them less likely to attract dirt, and has a faster drying time. Carpets also stay cleaner for a longer period of time with Steamatic care.

Carpet and furniture cleaning is only a part of the overall cleaning system available from Steamatic. Air duct cleaning is also one of their specialties. Air duct cleaning has become very important, not only because of the heavy usage of air conditioning but also because of its negative effects. "Many systems, especially residential, do not mix fresh air with recirculating air as codes now require," said Manes. Continually recirculating air that is not properly filtered can become hazardous, he added.

Steamatic's patented vacuum system leaves cleaner air ducts, and a special germicide treatment and particulate retainer sealant produces up to 80 per cent cleaner air. The system has also done much to bring relief to people suffering from breathing difficulties.

The firm is very well known for their ability to offer superior service to people who are victims of fire and water damage.

Steamatic offers special rates for clients using their service for both residential and commercial properties. For more complete information call Halton/Peel Steamatic at (519) 853-4451 or 873-3469.
