Joining the TEAM

Are you a young mother who wants to go back to school, but can't find child care? Why not join us at TEAM?

Teen Education and Motherhood (TEAM) enables pregnant teenagers and young mothers to finish their education in a friendly and supportive environment. The students, using independent learning materials, are able to work at their own pace, with teaching staff who are available to help them with any problems or concerns.

Child care is provided on site, for both infants and preschoolers and mothers are nearby in their own classroom. There are no costs to the students.

TEAM runs from the Maple Nursery School and the Cedarvale Community Centre in Georgetown. Classes are offered

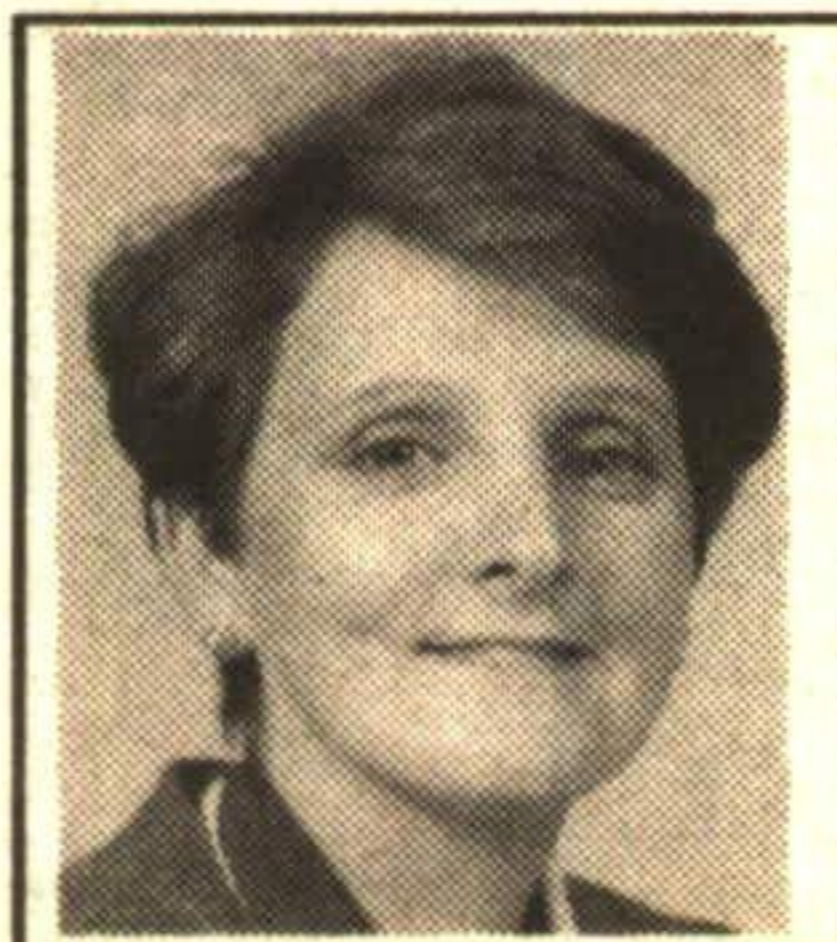

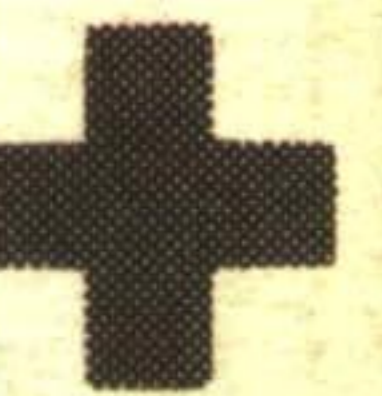

An Open House is scheduled for Friday, September 5, 1-3 p.m. and mothers and their children are invited to come along and meet the staff and the other students. "We've found that the students become very supportive of each other and many friendships have formed because of the program," said Anne Day, TEAM Program Supervisor.

The program, which is sponsored by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of the Halton Board of Education and the Ministry of Community and Social Services is now in its fourth year, but opening in Georgetown this fall.

Classes will be starting on Monday, September 10 but students can join the program at any time. For further information, contact Anne Day at 333-3499 or 878-1240.

There's a lot people can't do on their own. That's why there's a Red Cross.
But the Red Cross is human too. And we can't do it on our own.
