The prize giving ended on a humorous note when Gloria Sin-

An on-the-road split for McNally Novices

By MARA FANTEGROSSI

The McNally Construction Georgetown Minor Novice AA hockey team played two out-of-town games this past week.

Oct. 1, at Thompson Arena, Georgetown shutout the hometown Milton squad 2-0 in a very exciting game.

The first period, though extremely fast-paced, ended in a scoreless tie. The second period was Georgetown's strongest of the game, partly due to very aggressive defence by Kyle Hotham.

Despite the intensity of the play, it was not until past the halfway mark in the game that Bradley Snow scored the first goal on what was Georgetown's first shot on net. Exactly two minutes later, Graham McCulloch scored on a breakaway shot from Brad Snow.

The final period, though scoreless, was highlighted by exciting breakaway shots from defencemen Tim Mansfield and Alex Durham and also, right winger Mark Fantegrossi.

The match ended with a well-deserved shutout for goaltender Ryan LaRose, who was greatly assisted throughout the game by three strong defensive lines.

Last Saturday, Georgetown faced the Oakville Rangers at Maplegrove Arena in Oakville. Our boys played another great game, and it could very well have gone either way, but they dropped it to the Rangers 2-1.

There was no score in the first period with both teams failing to capitalize on powerplay opportunities. During the second period, Martin Lefebvre made a great defensive play and prevented a possible Oakville goal with his chase and poke check, stopping a Ranger breakaway directly in front of the net.

With only 40 seconds left in the period, goalie Ryan LaRose made a good save but had no chance against the rebound shot that gave Oakville their first goal.

Early in the third period, Bradley Snow scored for Georgetown after a scuffle in front of the net. It looked as though it might end in a tie, when late in the game Oakville got their second goal. Georgetown head coach Paul LaRose pulled the goalie at the last minute of play. The strategy proved to be a good one, as the six attackers really kept the pressure on, never allowing the puck to leave the Oakville end and getting several shots on net. The strong Oakville defence, however, held them off not allowing Georgetown to get the tying goal.

This past week the enthusiastic Georgetown crowds were treated to two very entertaining games of hockey at the AA Minor Novice level.

Today (Saturday) Georgetown hosts Chinguacousy at Memorial Arena at 4 p.m. Tomorrow they travel to Streetsville to play at Vic Johnson Arena at 4:30 p.m.

Novices close in rep debut

The Acton Novice 2 hockey squad may be a David fighting a few Goliaths this season, but they won't go down without a fight.

The group of Acton players, all with only house league experience, battled tough against teams from Milton and Orangeville last week before dropping a pair of decisions.

A week ago Thursday night, the novice Sabres dropped a heartbreaking 3-1 loss in Orangeville with Darren Selihar netting the lone Acton tally from Joe Field.

A couple of days later, the local squad squared off with Milton on home ice, falling 7-3.

In this outing, the Acton crew got off to a slow start, falling behind 2-0 in the opening minute. From then on, the local team played tough against their more experienced rivals.

Joe Field and Ryan Weatherall each counted a goal and an assist for Acton. Steven Barends notched the other goal.
