

Does ice cream pizza sound appetizing? The 4-Hers think so

The Thanksgiving Sunday service at the village church was a time to reflect on home, family, agriculture and the many things in our lives to be thankful for. The Junior choir set the tone for a lovely service with the hymns they sang. The congregation did not forget the less fortunate, as they arrived laden with food donations for Georgetown's Love In Christ Food Bank.

"But this can't be!" I retorted. "I didn't do anything to make the choice. If it had been up to me, we would have had both. I think it might have been fun to have had a boy baby or two around here. Then we could have had a few boys' toys around for me, er...him to play with."

She stood firm.

"To put it into plain English, Ted," she snapped back, "you can't harvest peas, where you planted beans."

End of argument.

It's a pretty hard argument to win, especially if the Readers' Digest Medical Guide says so. But I'm still not convinced. Who knows? Medical science has been proven wrong before.

I'm going to stick to my own ideas on how gender is decided. It's a simple, straightforward, reasonable view that I cling to with regards to determining the sex of a baby.

I figure the person who had it last is to blame.

Ballinafad

The 4-H Club is turning up some really interesting facts about dairy products. The group studied the different kinds of cultures needed to make items such as yogurt, sour cream, cottage cheese, etc. Members compared animal fat contents, and just how much air is used in products to create that light texture. At their last meeting members made butter and an ice cream pizza. The pizza is to be sampled at a following meeting, needing time to set. A taste test was conducted with the group identifying a number of unlabelled samples of dairy products. Members scored pretty high in correct answers.

November 2 has been set for the Annual Turkey Supper to be held at the United Church. Takeouts will be available again this year. Tickets can be purchased by calling Eileen McEnery at 877-3721, and Alma Sinclair at 877-6050. Adult cost is $8. This is an

A sponsor is needed for the October newsletter. Please call Betty Sojka at 853-3691, or leave your name at the Ballinafad General Store. The cost is the purchase of 100 stamps. Your help would very much be appreciated.

Folks are reminded that the Halloween Dance tickets are now on sale at the Ballinafad General Store at a cost of $7.50 per person.

New exec for Xi Delta Beta

By LINDA LEE
Publicity chairperson

Another year has been started for the local Georgetown Xi Delta Beta Sorority with the first meeting being held at the home of Lynn Hall.

Our new executive, Sue Hilts, president, Carol Parker, vice-president, Brenda McMurray, corresponding secretary, Lynn Hall, recording secretary and Monica Hancock, treasurer ran a very smooth and thoroughly enjoyable meeting with 14 of our 17 members present.

Our Ways and Means chairperson, Donna Waller got our fundraising project off to a fantastic start with an auction of holiday memorabilia gathered by the girls over their summers. We are very pleased to welcome two transferees, Lois Robillard and Elizabeth Kerr into our fold. By the look of the project chairpersons, this appears to be another great and productive year.

Just a word of well wishes to our Sorority Sister, Linda Casselman, who has just undergone surgery at Sunnybrook. From all of us, a speedy recovery Linda and hoping to see you back with us soon.
