Youth musicians spotlighted Mar. 7

Halton's finest young musicians headline a Classical Spring Concert in Georgetown's John Elliott Theatre. The March 7 show features the Wind Ensemble and En Cinq, a wind quintet from the Georgetown District High School, as well as the acclaimed Halton Youth Symphony.

A pleasant variety of musical styles will treat the audience: Cajun folk songs, the 1988 Olympic Winter Games' theme as well as the familiar Royal Fireworks, Emperor Waltz and Carmen Suite.

Local music patrons know of accolades received by the high school's Wind Ensemble: gold medals in 1990 and 1991 at regional and southern Ontario band festivals and a silver medal at the prestigious Musicfest Canada in Winnipeg in 1990.

The upcoming performance in Georgetown will preview the local orchestra's upcoming tour in the U.K.

The Halton Youth Symphony is a full orchestra with an exceptional repertoire comprising of players from 12-19 years. Formed to provide orchestral experience for young musicians, the symphony performs in various venues across Halton. Most players study privately in addition to their practice with the symphony.
