

TED BROWN /Halton Hills Weekend

Off to see the Wizard?

Fiona Barfoot is the friendly Scarecrow in search of a brain and Eric Gee is all oiled up as the Tinman as Stewarttown Middle School students are putting the finishing touches on the production of their upcoming musical, "The Wizard of Oz," opening at John Elliott Theatre April 22, running until April 24. Tickets are still available for some performances and cost $4 for adults and $2 for students. For more information, call the school at 873-1637.

Choral Society set to sing at Thomson Hall

By DONNA GUMULAK
Georgetown Choral Society

Preparations are well underway and anticipation is growing for members of the Georgetown and Achill choral societies as they await the arrival of the Etten Mannenkoor (male choir) from Holland on Friday, May 22.

The Etten choir members and their families served as very gracious hosts to our choirs during their visit to the Netherlands in May 1990 and it seemed only appropriate that the opportunity to show them the warmth of Canadian hospitality in return.

After the Etten choir's arrival at Pearson International, they and family members travelling with them will be met by members from our choirs, who will host two or more members in their homes. Choir members who had the opportunity to visit Holland in 1990 will be seeing their hosts once again and therefore returning the favor. New choir members or those who did not make the Holland trip will have the chance to meet new people, show them some of the sights and perhaps learn a little Dutch as well.

During their stay in Ontario, the Etten choir will combine with the Georgetown/Achill choir in a concert at St. Peter's Basilica in London May 23, and at Toronto's Roy Thomson Hall May 29. The Etten choir will also be travelling by bus to Ottawa where they will perform another concert and tour the parliament buildings, etc. A sightseeing trip to Niagara Falls is also planned.

Details and arrangements are still in the making by some very ambitious committee members who are planning an arrival reception, a group picnic and a variety of other activities including a farewell party. Choir members will also have two, perhaps three free days with their Dutch guests where they may do some sightseeing or pursue special interests.

All in all the experience of hosting people from another country and sharing one another's language and culture is an experience well worth the preparation it entails and the opportunity to sing together in concert is sure to be a most memorable event. The time between the Etten choir's arrival and their departure 12 days later on June 2, will go by very quickly, but the memory will be a lasting one.
