Local Zellers raises $2,300

Zellers' Georgetown Moonwalk was a lunar success Sunday.

For the seventh consecutive year citizens gravitated a 10 kilometre trek to raise money for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Canadian Zellers' stores everywhere moonwalked to a tune of $3.8 million dollars, said Darryl Cox, associate manager of Georgetown's Zellers.

"They call it Moonwalk because with everyone walking the total distance is from the earth to the moon," said Cox.

Over 60 Georgetown and area residents participated and contributed $2,300 to the fight against cystic fibrosis. As well, coupon books were sold for one dollar, which featured $50 worth of Zellers value, with all sales going directly to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

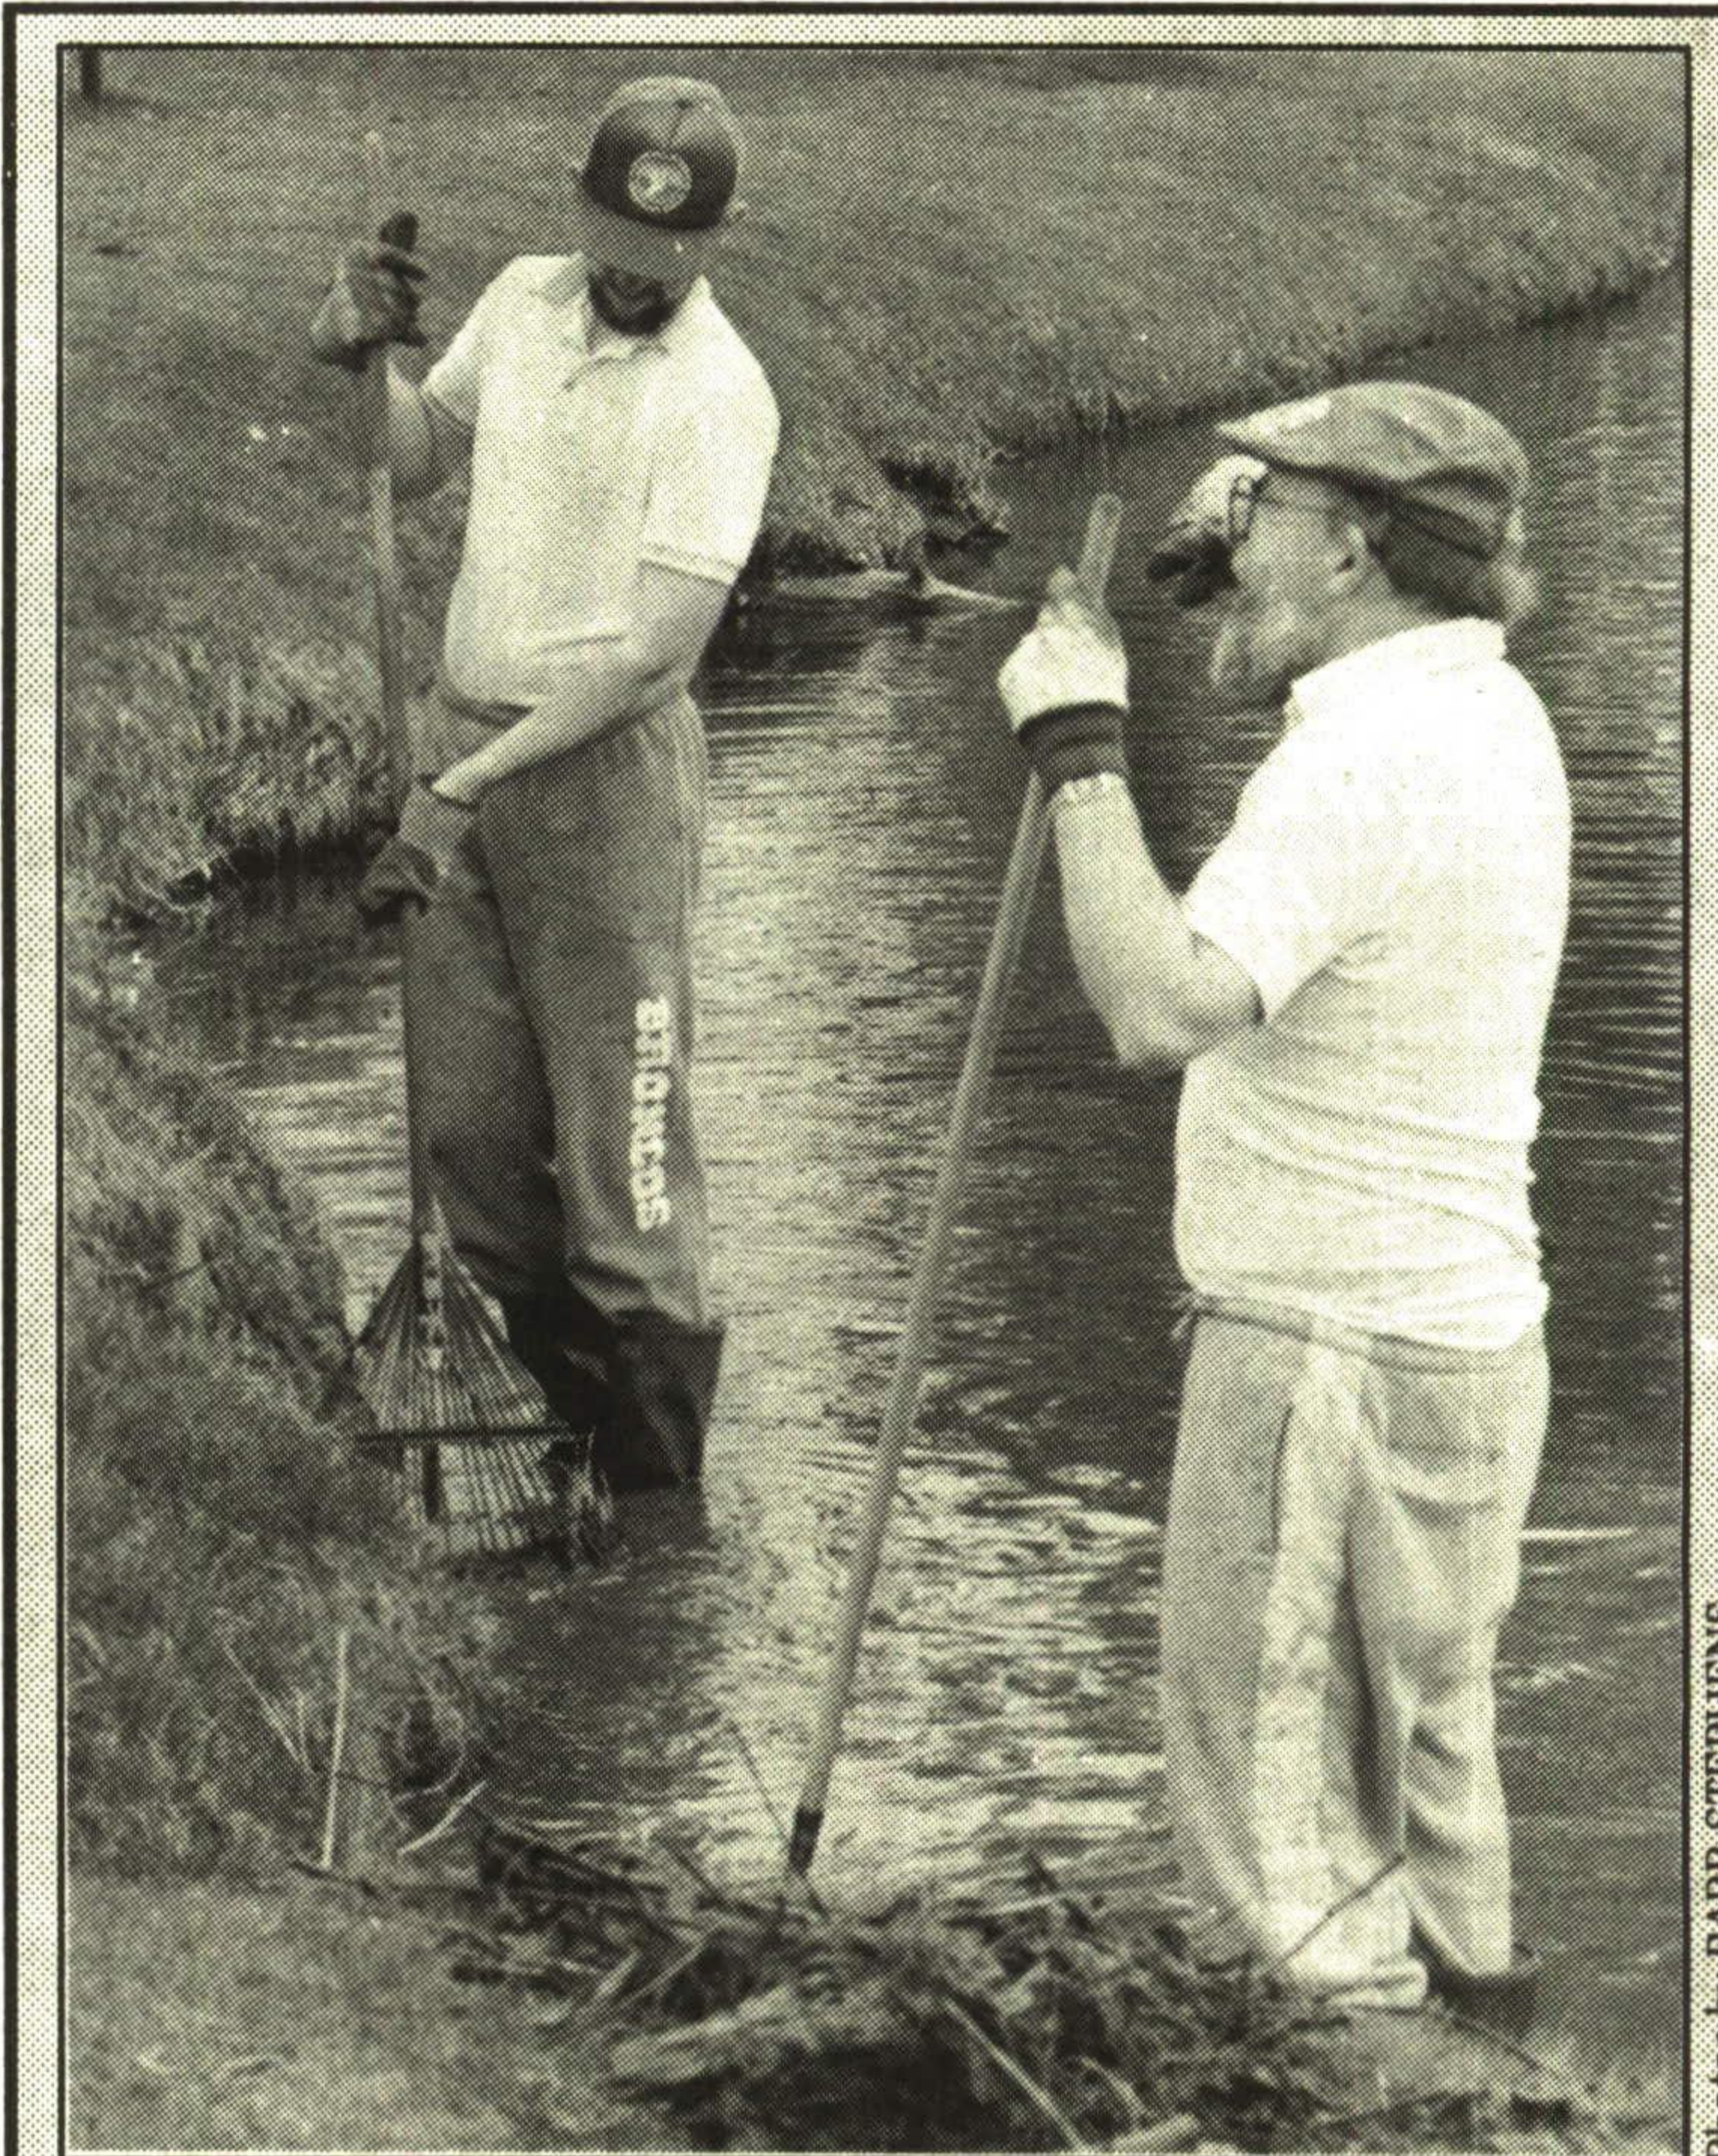

Speech month comes to end

The speech language pathologists at Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital have wrapped up the end of May's Speech and Hearing Month.

Rosemary Boyer and Karen MacKenzie-Stepner worked to promote the Speech Language Pathology division of the Rehabilitation department, educating fellow hospital employees and providing factsheets and information.

"Speech and language disorders are more prevalent than people realize," said Boyer. An estimated one in ten Canadians have a speech, language or hearing problem. Over two million people are affected nation-wide, from infancy to old age.

A College of Audiologists and Speech Language Pathologists is currently being established to protect the public. This college will open towards the end of 1992 in Toronto as a licensing bureau.

A clean sweep

Teachers and parents from Robert Little School in Acton joined forces recently as they performed a cleanup of the creek and Fairy lake shoreline in Acton. Teachers Paul Hynds and Dave Mashinter were just two of the many who cleaned along the shore and disposed of the litter.

Libertarian meeting

Town crier Glen Kealey will speak about government corruption in high places at the Libertarian Party of Canada's meeting June 12 in the Acton Curling Club.

The club will open 7:30 p.m. for wine and cheese followed by Kealey, at 8 p.m.

As well, the Chromatic Nibblers and Jim Haggett will entertain.

A limited number of tickets are available, $18 each. For information call 853-1779 or 854-0235.
