Agricultural museum celebrates Canada's birthday with big bash

Canada 125 celebrations will be in full swing on Wednesday, July 1 at the Ontario Agricultural Museum.

Activities and entertainment for the entire family include craft workshops, wagon rides and musical entertainment. Bring your own kite to fly over the expansive grass areas, or kindle the spirit of the past by participating in organized 19th century games.

The day's activities will be culminated at 2 p.m. when visitors will be invited to participate in the 'Canada 125 Unity Circle' and patriotic parade. Led by an RCMP Corporal in ceremonial uniform, the Unity Circle activity and parade will conclude with the cutting of Canada's birthday cake.

Other activities include the museum's costumed interpreters celebrating 125 years of Canadian history through song.

Pack a picnic or eat in the country style restaurant, but leave room to indulge in fresh strawberries during the afternoon's strawberry social.

Admission will be free on July 1 only.

The museum is open daily until Sept. 20, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Located just five kilometres west of Milton, follow the signs.
