

Jim Dandies just dandy at Georgetown ball tourney

It was an incredible weekend for the Jim Dandies! The ladies won all four of their games while participating in the Georgetown tournament. This was the fifth year running that the team has won the championship round as well as being the consolation champs in a prior year.

Much of this success was due to pitchers Marion Lumbers and Sandra Prouse. Their speed and accuracy in the strike zone left many a batter standing at the plate. All four opponents were not able to launch an assault, keeping the runs against under five or nil.

Tournament officials choosing a Most Valuable Player for each game picked Sandra Prouse, Kathy Duek, Vera Longstreet and Marion Lumbers for their outstanding performances.

The team welcomed back Maureen Halpenny who came all the way from her home in Smith Falls to compete in the tournament. As usual, Maureen was reliable at the bat, and in the outfield. Cindy See and Ellen Woods made some astonishing catches.

The team was overwhelmed by all the Ballinafad residents who came to watch the championship game on Sunday. The ladies wish to extend their heartfelt thanks for their support. T-shirts were given to the team as well as a cash prize.

Surprises!

What a surprise Willard and Vera Sanderson had when they returned home early Sunday afternoon! There were oodles of people at their farm ready to wish them a happy 50th anniversary.

Their sons Jim and Calvin along with daughters-in-law Alice and Pauline, had managed to keep the occasion a surprise despite all the many arrangements and making the food.

There was a steady flow of well wishers between the hours of 2-4. Some guests stayed on for supper. Lovely weather enabled everyone to be outside, making the occasion even memorable. Congratulations to Vera and Willard.

AMY SIEGNER

Amy Siegner gives Centennial's valedictory address

In our Wednesday, July 1 edition, we misidentified Centennial School's valedictorian Amy Siegner. The photo shown was actually of Leigh Shillington who earned the Mandy Bull Memorial Award. This newspaper apologizes to both Amy and Leigh for the error.

In her valedictory address, Amy spoke about friendship and camaraderie, about the giving teachers who helped to make their students better persons and about the parents who supported the Grade 8ers throughout their three years at Centennial.

Speaking on behalf all the graduates, Amy concluded that "I'm proud to be in the 25th anniversary class of '92."
