GIRLS UNDER-7

On July 23, Accura Molding and Ramrock Electric met for the first game at the Cobra field. Accura Molding scored a stunning 8-0 win. Goal scorers were Dawn Burrows 2, Jacqueline Hofing 2, Courtney O'Reilly 3 and Colleen Schulze. Other noteworthy players were Whitney Backe, Elizabeth Gogan and Mairin Scannell. Playing well for Ramrock Electric were Nicole Dutkowski, Heather MacArthur and Amanda Dayment.

The Georgetown Lioness met the CIBC Fireflies in the second game of the evening. Fiona Campbell took the Fireflies to a 1-0 win. Playing well for the Georgetown Lioness were Adrienne Decloe, Rachelle Somerville and Adrienne Thompson. Thanks to George for refereeing.

CHALLENGERS

Georgetown Challengers Under-18 Rep girls soccer team resumed their regular league play against Burlington Under-17 on July 27. With many injuries received against Scarborough United Scorpions the previous day in Ontario Cup play, the squad played without a sub for the majority of the game.

A refreshing change from the previous day, it was a well-refereed and well-played game. At about the 10-minute mark a Burlington forward outran the Challenger defence and cleanly beat goalie Jen Apgar, who had no chance on the play. This proved to be the winning goal. With about five minutes left in the half, an own goal off the head of a Georgetown defender made the final score 2-0 for Burlington.

Undaunted the Challengers played some good soccer with some adventurous forays into the home team's end with Melanie Booth cleanly beating the Burlington goalie, only to have the ball bounce squarely off the crossbar. Tracy Metler played her best game so far as a rep player (youngest on the team at 16) with some aggressive and enthusiastic plays. Jen Apgar resumed her goaltending form and made some sensational saves, resulting in a badly bruised hip. Carla Johnston of Milton also had her best game and looked comfortable on left defence.

The 2-0 loss leaves the Challengers with a record of four wins and five losses.

GIRLS UNDER-18

UNDER-10 GIRLS

In summer house leagues, every player is valuable especially when vacations deplete the supply of players for each team. This week (of July 22), the Municipal Trust and Elks Lodge teams had seven players each who ran the whole game while the Andrew Murray Motors played with five players and the Armstrong Insurance players had to forfeit a game to the Recochem team when the Aqua team could not field enough players. Melissa Hill, the referee in the latter game, had an easy evening!

The Burger Kings and the Elks Lodge teams both played well on a chilly evening. Goal scorers for the Burgers were Kira Lawrence with two while Laura Bowman, Melissa Maveal and Jill Pembleton each kicked one in. The Elks Lodge fought back with scorers Karen Zomer and Shaylyn Rypstra both getting their first goals of the season for a final 5-2 score. For the Burgers, Michelle Smyth was noteworthy for superb goaltending, Katie Duff for some heartfelt blocking and Kira Lawrence for those goals. The Elks Lodge players who were noteworthy this game were Emily Thompson, Kim Neilsen and Shaylyn Rypstra. Thanks to Aaron Williams who refereed.

At Emmerson field, Alana Zelek was busy getting five goals for the Millieries TV team along with Charlene Roche and Danielle King who got two each. Shannon Hofing got her first goal of the summer too, and was noteworthy along with the other goal scorers. The Millieries TV team was playing the Municipal Trust team who gets full marks for cardiovascular fitness as they ran well the whole game and learned some good positional plays. Noteworthy for the Blue Bomber Municipal Trust team were Bethan Elliott on right wing, Andrea Lootsma as second quarter goalie and Alyssa Taylor on defence. Deanna Guignard blew the referee's whistle for the game.

The Andrew Murray Motors team playing with five players scored early in the second quarter with a frontal attack kick by Laura Shields and then held the Wendy's Winners team at bay until the last three minutes of the game when Wendy's equalized the score for a 1-1 tie. Outstanding players for the small but mighty Motors were Jessica Macdonald, Jaclyn Neil and Sharon Rowan. Playing well for the Wendy's team were Becky Chapman, Jaime Campbell and Andrea Patton. Thank you to referee Marc Vandenakker.

ACTON PEEWEE BOYS

Despite a strong team effort, Al & Al's Red Brand Meats Acton Peewee soccer squad dropped three straight games in Elmira July 18 at the Woolwich Invitational Soccer Tournament.

In their first game, Acton played hard against Port Elgin but were shutout 6-0. Even while the score was high, the Acton players never gave up. Having strong performances in game one for the local peewee team were Jamie Birrell, Scott McIntyre, Derrick McIntyre, captain Jason Virgin, and Jeff Adema.

The second game saw Acton up against the Clearwater (Sarnia district) squad. Clearwater netted the first goal but Acton came back with two of their own. While outplaying their opponents, Acton was unable to stop Clearwater's comeback and fell 4-2. Bobby Bard scored both goals for Acton.

In their final matchup of the tournament, the local squad met Woodstock and were pounded 7-1. Bard scored Acton's third goal of the day and great games were played by Acton defender Alan Deruelle and halfback Nicholas Van Egmond, as well as Paul Guy, Michael Moulard, Jamie Birrell, Derrick McIntyre and Scott McIntyre.

Congratulations to all Acton players who played soccer to the best of their abilities. A special thank-you to all spectators and to the tournament team co-coach Ray Deruelle and to the house league coach John Van Egmond on a job well done.

CUTWORMS AND SOD WEBWORMS

Adult cutworms are a greyish/brown moth. These moths do not damage lawns, but their larvae can. Adult cutworms appear in the spring to lay their eggs. The larvae emerge and begin feeding as early as June with the damage appearing in June/July.

Cutworms are large, greyish, green and brown larvae which viciously chew on grass plants. They live on the soil surface or in the thatch layer. During the day they burrow into vertical holes to hide. When nightfall arrives, they emerge from their burrowed hole and feed at the rim of the hole. Stems, leaves and roots of grass plants may be injured leaving yellowish/brown dead patches with a hollow hole in the middle of the circle. The damage looks quite similar to symptoms of dryness. Other symptoms to watch for include birds--starlings have a keen ability to locate cutworm larvae. When these birds return frequently to an area, cutworm larvae may be present.

Sod webworms are small tan or white moths (they are the moths which fly about in the spring when you cut or walk on your lawn). The adult moths do not harm the lawn; however, like the cutworm, their larvae can severely damage your lawn. Adult sod webworms appear in May or June flying mainly during the evening hours, laying eggs randomly throughout the lawn. When the larvae emerge, they begin feeding immediately.

Sod webworms are dirty white or tan colored larvae, and frequently have rows of dark spots along their back. They construct tunnels or burrows through the thatch layer of the lawn, sometimes extending into the soil. Damage is caused by larvae chewing off grass stems and leaves while feeding during the summer and into early fall. As with cutworm damage, the symptoms of damage appear similar to that of dryness. The dead patches of grass pull away easily in clumps. Severe damage may result in September if the population throughout the summer builds up.
