PEEGEE HYDRANGEAS

During the month of August, there is a few shrubs that flower profusely. But this is the month that the Peegee Hydrangea comes into its splendor. This Hydrangea is a small tree (or large shrub) that may attain a height of 5 feet at maturity. It makes a splendid specimen plant due to its small tree-like stature and semi-arching branches.

Extremely large, white, showy flowers develop on the ends of the branches in August. The flowers are cone shaped (approximately 6 inches long) and white in color that slowly change to purplish pink and then brown when they're finished. The flowers last a long time while going through their color transformation. Even the finished flowers are decorative; they can be cut off and used in dried flower arrangements.

Another attractive aspect of this plant is that it is not prone to many insects and diseases. This fact makes it an attractive low maintenance plant.

The Peegee Hydrangea transplants easily and is very adaptable to soil and light conditions. However, it thrives in rich well-drained soil and prefers a partially shaded location.

Each week Christine Cole of Tuitman's Garden Centre and Landscaping, Highway 25, 1-mile south of Acton, 853-2480, will be presenting helpful tips and information to assist you in creating your garden show-place!
