

Make your own brew

Mayor Russ Miller gets some tips on brewing his own beer from Scott Reis, a co-owner of the new Brew Factory. Reis is pouring the mixed brew into a container where it will ferment for approximately two weeks. The Brew Factory, located at 332 Guelph St., Georgetown, opened doors officially September 19. Remember when it took a week to spend a week's wages?

The September Ballinafad Women's Institute meeting was held at the home of Helen Brown, with Eleanor McLean as the convener. Historical research was the meeting's topic, which included discussion on the Tweedsmuir Histories, the local history each W.I. compiles in a book. Fittingly, the roll call was "What year was your house built?" answered by 10 members. Mrs. Alma Sinclair recited a priceless gem for the motto, "The good old days were when it took a week to spend a week's wages!"

A business report noted very successful figures for the group's endeavors over the summer, which included the sale of coffee/baked goods at the Agricultural Museum. The W.I. was busy preparing for their 40th anniversary celebration held yesterday. Members prepared the meal themselves for a guest list that is already topping 70 people.

Just a reminder that Oct. 3 was the last day for recycled pick up at the Community Centre. Halton Hills residents will have to make alternate arrangements.
