Acton Lions give boost to United Way efforts

The Acton United Way residential campaign is getting a "lion's share" of support from one of the town's long-established service organizations.

The members of the Lions Club of Acton have agreed to handle the United Way's residential campaign in four of the five Acton districts. The fifth area is already being managed by residential captain, Anna Matheson, coordinator of the North Halton Housing Registry.

With the official Halton Hills United Way campaign now well underway, the Acton Lions Club is moving into high gear - contacting potential canvassers and arranging for the distribution of information kits.

According to David Pyke, a Lions Club member and overall Acton residential campaign coordinator, "The Lions Club strongly believes in supporting worthwhile projects such as the United Way - it's important not only for our club, but for our community as a whole."

Bob Malcolmson, the 1992 United Way campaign chair understands the key role that service organizations play in the area of fundraising.

"The 1992 United Way Campaign team greatly appreciates the Lions Club's support. Thanks to their involvement, residents in all five Acton areas will have the opportunity to support the United Way through the door-to-door canvassing," he said.

The United Way of Halton Hills' 1992 fundraising goal is $200,000. The charitable organization provides funding for 23 agencies which, in turn, offer a variety of services and programs to more than 15,000 residents.

For further information on the United Way of Halton Hills, contact the office at 877-3066.

Two charged with trespassing

Police charged two Georgetown men with trespassing after they were observed by residents of a Park Ave. apartment building looking in cars in the underground parking area of the building. Police attended the scene and charged the two men, one 19, from Georgetown, and the other 20, from Eighth Line, Halton Hills.
