

Halloween hauntings

Right, the little ones showed off their great Halloween costumes Oct. 30 as George Kennedy Public School held a costume parade in the school gymnasium. Among the great costumes were (front) Scott Buist, the clown and standing, Lindsay Norris, the crayon, both in kindergarten and Stacy Thurlbeck, the bride and vampire Gregg Thibideau, both of Grade 1.

Free seminar Tuesday on financial planning

A free financial seminar will be offered to the public Tuesday, Nov. 10, 8 p.m. at the North Halton Golf and Country Club.

Financial planner Dan Bodanis is the host for the evening, covering topics which include paying less tax, alternatives to GICs and interest bearing investments and taking advantage of tax free capital gains. Guest speaker will be a lawyer discussing estate planning and wills.
