

Women's Institute discusses life in the Arctic

The October meeting of Brampton West Women's Institute met at the home of Isabel Fraser. Alma Doane and Janet Struiksma assisted the hostess.

Members answered the roll call by telling something of interest, about physical conditions and life on Baffin Island.

Jean Churchill, a cousin of hostess Isabel Fraser, and whose son is a school principal on Baffin Island, spoke of her visit to the Arctic, during the Christmas season, where there is total darkness during the winter with the temperature 50 degrees below zero.

Their homes are covered with ice, and are heated with oil. She found the Inuit people gracious and spiritual and their homes full of love.

Mrs. Churchill displayed several Inuit carvings and craft articles. Margaret McClure gave the courtesies.

It has come to our attention that a number of families did not receive their sons' or daughters' report cards "on time" last week.

The reports were mailed on Friday, Nov. 6.

Apparently there was a problem with some of the computerized address labels. As a result, the electronic mail sorters at Gateway in Mississauga rejected some of the mail and redirected it to "hand sorting."

We regret the inconvenience this may have caused some of our parents and we shall attempt to rectify the situation so it won't happen again.

Friday, was a Professional Development Day for elementary and secondary teachers.

Of course, many teachers engage in professional development activities after school, in the evenings and during the summer.

The purpose of the annual PD Day is to give all teachers a common time where they can assemble in large numbers to focus on staff development themes important to our system.

Topics being dealt with this Friday include: the Transition Years, Technology in the Classroom, Computers, Classroom Management, Integration of Students with Special Needs, and Assessment and Evaluation of Student Performance.

One of the pay-offs of PD Day is that teachers get a chance to share ideas. Very often the relationships and networks that are fostered through PD Day, lead to increased teacher collaboration and mutual support.

Research indicates that "teachers learning from teachers" is the most effective method of improving classroom instruction.
