Locals attend conference

Soheil Mosun and his son, Darius of Halton Hills will be attending the largest assemblage of Baha'is in the 150-year history of the faith to be held in New York this week.

"Nowhere else on earth can you see the incredible diversity and richness of humanity, all gathered under one roof," says Mosun. Residents in Halton Hills for over 10 years, Mosun says, "This congress will be a once-in-a-lifetime experience. I have been to many, many Baha'i conferences, but this one has me the most excited!"

When the 30,000 members of the world-wide Baha'i Faith gather in New York City, Canadians will have an exclusive opportunity to see the colorful proceedings on television. In association with VISION TV, Canada's national faith network, this Baha'i congress will be broadcast in prime time, Thursday, Nov. 26. The program begins at 7 p.m. and will be rebroadcast later that evening (12 a.m. - 4 a.m.) and twice the following day (10 a.m. - 2 p.m. and 3-7 p.m.) on VISION TV, (cable 33 in Halton Hills).

"We believe that a continuous four-hour prime-time broadcast by a Canadian faith group is a first," says Halton Hills resident Richard Landau who is the executive producer, Mosaic Programs with VISION TV. "In the past, the regular Baha'i programming in prime time on VISION has drawn large audiences because of its inclusive, hopeful message, informative content, and excellent production values. We believe this spectacular will be no less popular with our viewers."

The Baha'i World Congress, November 23-26, marks the culmination of a Holy Year for Baha'i Communities throughout the world. The Holy Year has been established to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the passing of Baha'u'llah, the founder of the Baha'i Faith.

"We anticipate that there will be close to 1,000 Canadians at this largest-ever gathering of Baha'is," says Reggie Newkirk, general secretary of the Baha'i Faith.

BEAUTY

The appreciation of beauty is one of the unique capacities of the human spirit. We can find it in our relationships with each other if we see the beauty of God reflected in each other's soul, and finding this point of similarity, are attracted to one another in love.
