Pony Club gallops to Ontario wins

In an exciting series of competitive games on horseback (P.P.G.) two Western Ontario Pony Club Masters teams came out on top.

Guelph Pony Club, with riders Melony Wood, Dawn Peace, Lindsay Taylor, Andrea Morris and Sheana Morris came first. A mixed team composed of both Caledon and Grand River players, Chris White, Scott Slaney, Kristina Haberstroh and Amanda Barnsley, tied for second.

This competition involved strong Central Ontario teams from North Toronto and Durham County.

Prince Philip Games (P.P.G.), at the Masters level, requires competitors to be 15 years old but not over 21. They may ride either a horse or a pony. A series of timed games determines the winners.

Previously in August at the Eastern Canadian Championships held at the CNE, the Guelph Masters team won their division. Caledon's younger division 1 team was second and Guelph's division 2 team placed first - all of this in competition with teams from the rest of Ontario and Quebec.

In addition to our P.P.G. wins at these championships, our Open Level Showjumping team easily placed first and our three dressage teams each accumulated points enough to earn them first place standings in each of the three divisions offered in the competition. It was a very productive year, indeed, for Western Ontario's teams.

Pony Club is a great opportunity for a young person to learn more about horses and develop a rewarding and fascinating lifetime hobby. Anyone considering joining a pony club should do so as soon as he or she can. Ages of children accepted go from seven or eight up to teenagers, depending on the rules of the individual club. Costs run from $40 to $100 depending on the services offered by a club. Owning a pony or a horse is usually not a necessity.

Contact Nora Bayles, Western Ontario's Regional Director for more information and the name of the pony club leader in your district, (519) 833-2136 after 7 p.m.
