Police Blotter

False pretense

A London man has been charged with false pretense under $1,000 in connection with an incident at Achilles Motors on Queen St. in Acton last June. Police report that the accused left his car at the premise for repairs. The total bill was $721.01, which the accused paid for with a personal cheque. The cheque was returned N.S.F. The suspect had moved after the incident and police recently arrested and charged the man Wednesday afternoon.

Dangerous weapon charge

An Acton man has been charged with possession of a dangerous weapon, assault level 1 and breach of probation following a domestic incident Monday morning. According to police, at 11:30 a.m. the man became involved in an argument with an Acton woman and brandished a rifle in her direction. The man was later arrested and charged.

Tools stolen

A total of $2,000 worth of tools was stolen from a pickup truck on Confederation Street in Halton Hills late last month. Police report that sometime between 6 p.m. February 25 and 7 a.m. March 1, unknown culprit(s) broke into the back of the truck, parked in the driveway of owner's residence, and removed two tool boxes containing assorted tools.

$750 vacuum stolen

Police report a vacuum cleaner valued at $750 was removed from a unlocked utility storage room on Park Ave. in Georgetown last month. Between 3 p.m. February 24 and 7:15 a.m. February 25, unknown person(s) entered the room and removed the vacuum cleaner, which was found missing upon the owner's return.

Maserati on fire

A 1989 white Maserati sustained $70,000 worth of damage on Lynden Circle in Georgetown early Monday morning. A Georgetown man leasing the vehicle from a Burlington company went out to the car in his driveway where he had a hard time starting the car. When it finally started, flames poured out from under the hood. The cause of the fire is undetermined and the vehicle sustained extensive damage.

Busy week for firefighters

Halton Hills firefighters responded to five fire calls this week including a wash down following a motor vehicle accident and a chimney fire in Erin Township.

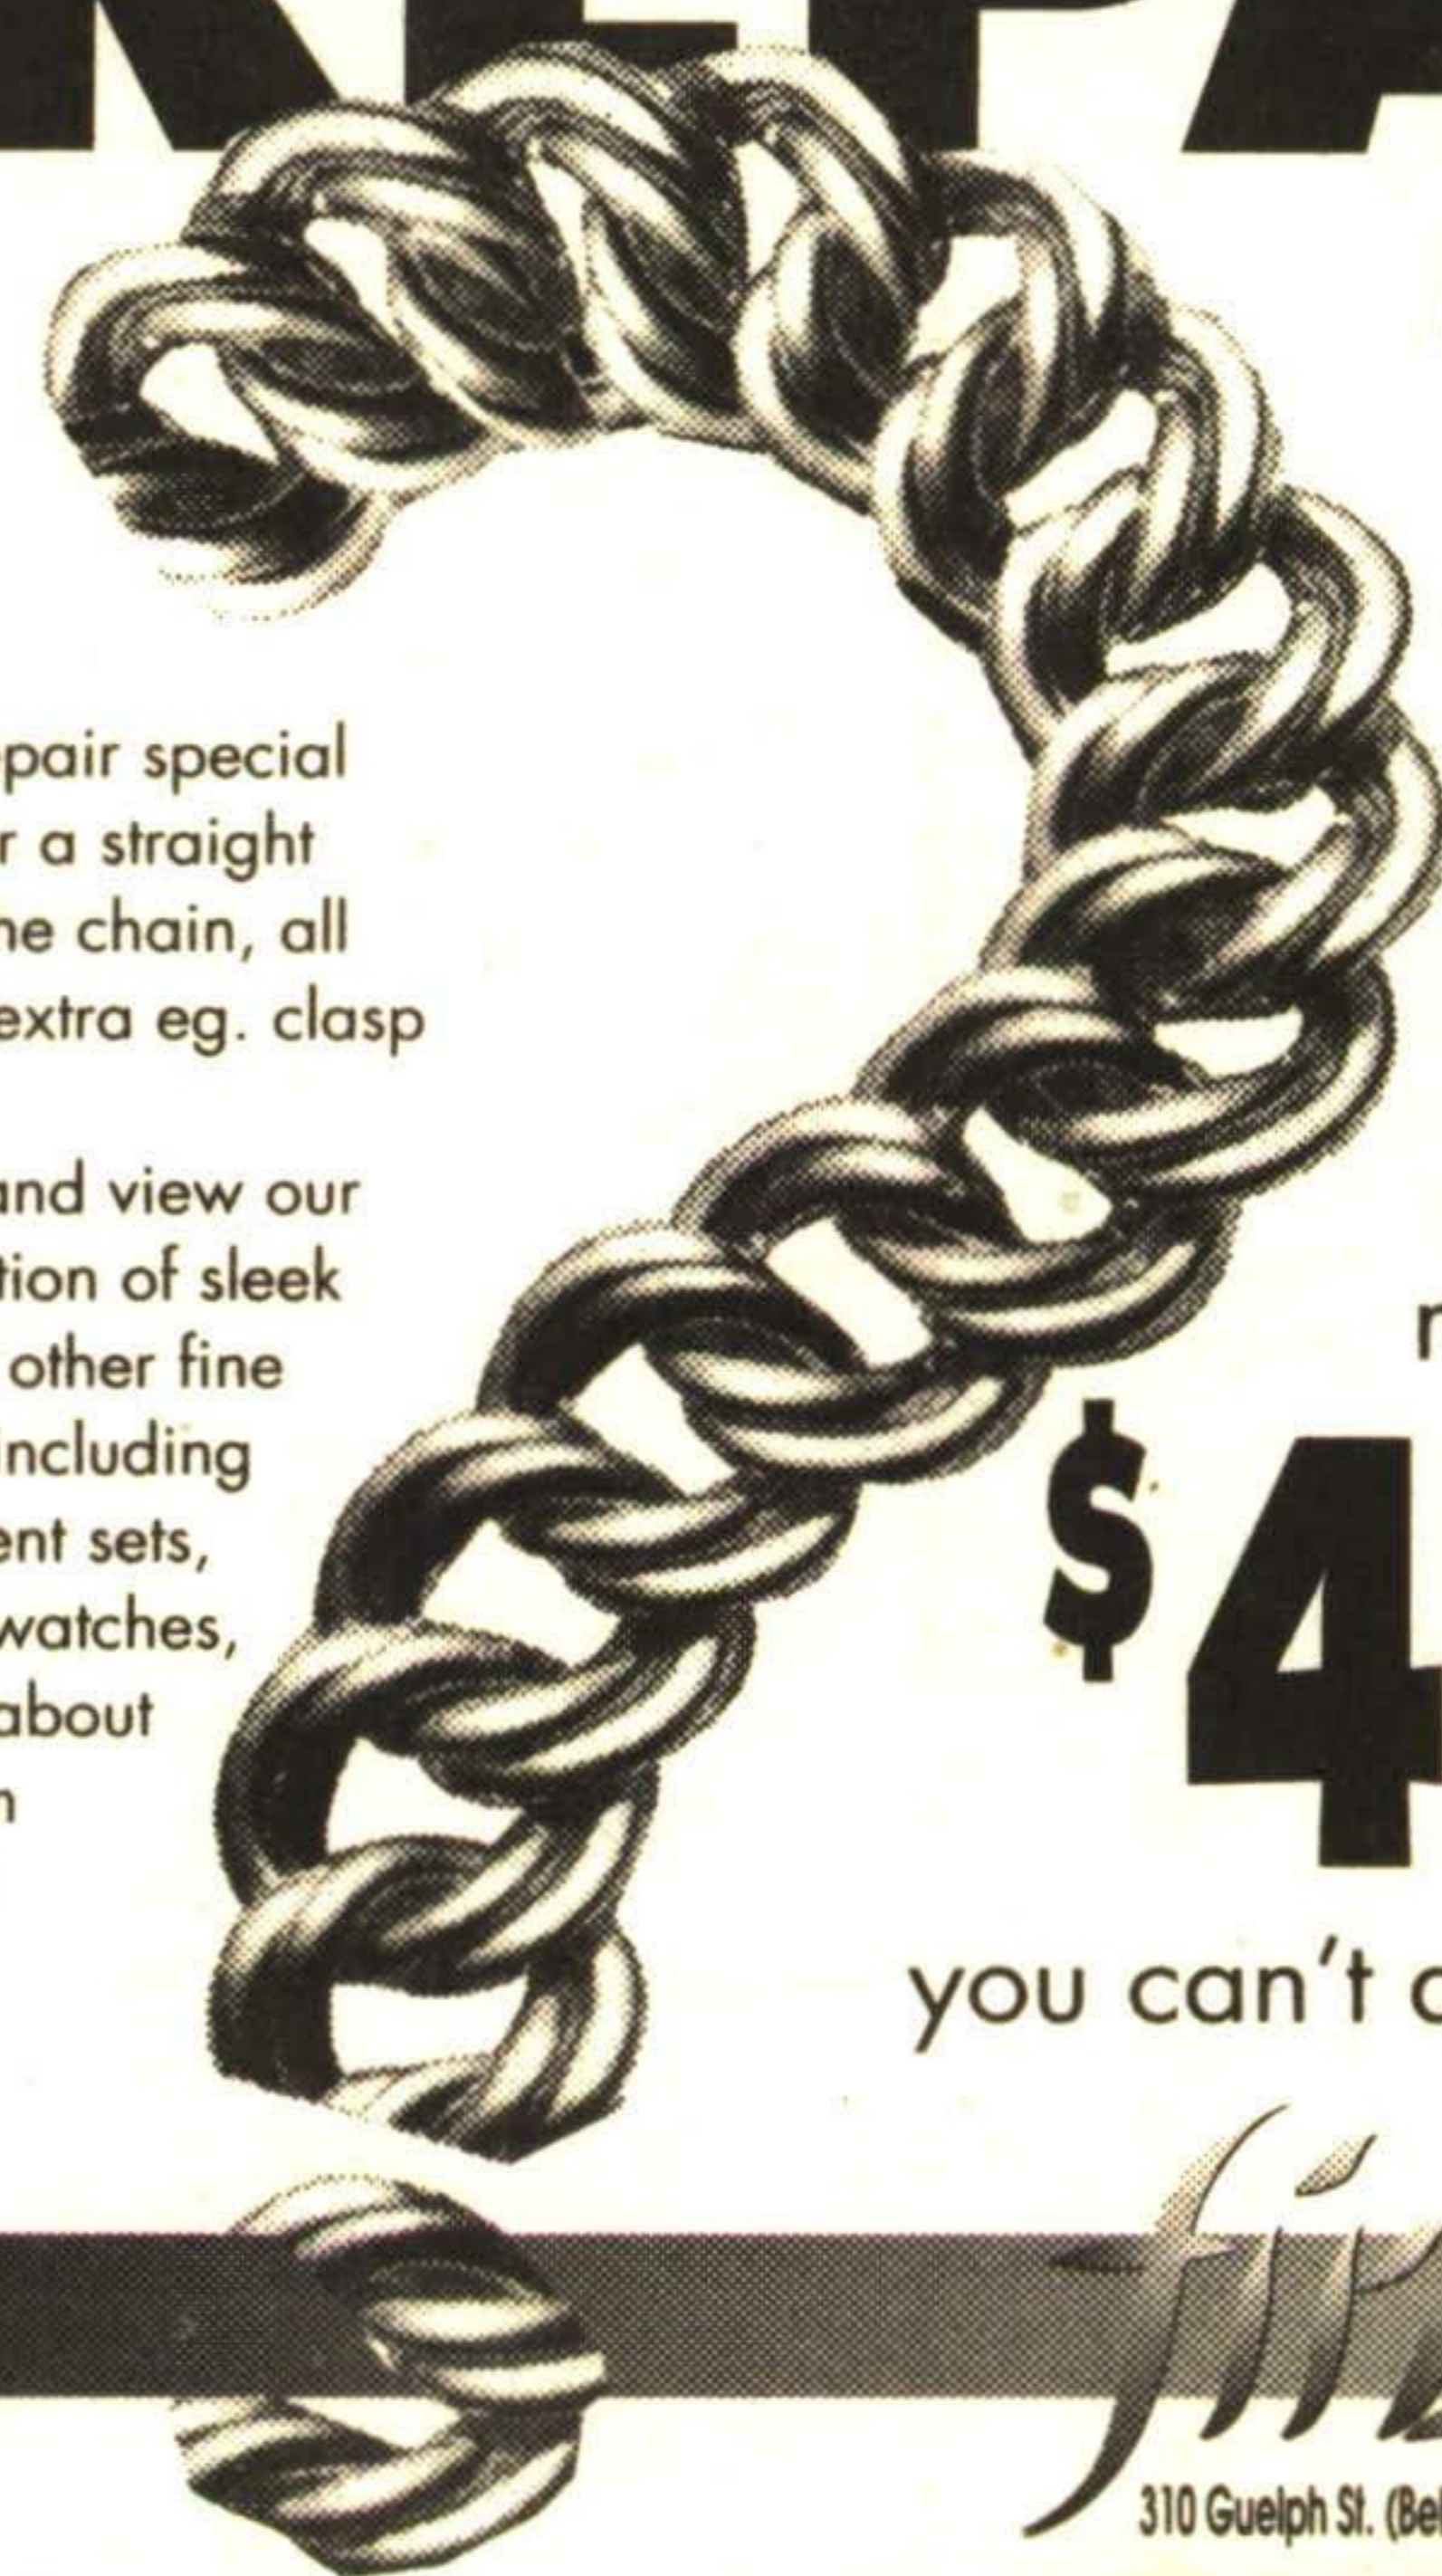

Firefighters were called in for a wash down of a vehicle during an accident on Hwy. 7 and Trafalgar Road in Halton Hills Thursday morning at 8:36 a.m.

Fluids had been leaking from the car and were cleaned up by firefighters.

No damage was caused during a chimney fire at 11:15 a.m. on 32 Sideroad in Erin Township Thursday morning.

Firefighters also responded to three alarm activations this week including a false alarm Thursday at the Halton Hills Civic Centre, a batch of burnt muffins Monday at Harrison Public School and a false alarm at Blue Springs Scout Camp on Sixth Line in Halton Hills Monday morning.
