Three Georgetown High School students won gold medals in the Halton Technical Olympics and are now representing their school at the Provincial Skills competition this weekend in Pickering.

Gold medal winners were Mike Delouche in small engines, Roland Pyke in precision machining, and Chris Howse in welding. GDHS silver medal winners were Jamie Priddle and Rob Garber in team carpentry, Mike Johansen and Derek Young in communications technology, Andrew Fuller in computer technology, and David Lewzey and Jeremy Niedorezow in construction technology.

Bronze medalists were Gary Armstrong in auto mechanics, Jason Soper in electronics, Larry Sikkema in precision machining, Mike Toyne in residential wiring, Philip Shaw in small engines and Mark Johnston in welding.

Acton District High School won two medals this year, both in drafting. David Wray won a silver medal in computer-assisted architectural drafting and Lisa Sanderson won a bronze in manual architectural drafting. Six ADHS students competed.

INTELLIGENT INVESTING

CARY LEON

There's No Place Like Home!

In recent articles I have focused largely on the many wonderful ways for Canadians to participate in international markets. However with the recent strong upturn in Canadian equity markets, I think it is very timely to examine an excellent way for investors to get involved.

Fidelity Investments Canada's "Capital Builder Fund" is invested primarily in Canadian stocks, with the objective of achieving capital growth over the long term. The portfolio is managed by George Domolky of Fidelity Investments, the world's largest fund managers. Mr. Domolky has been with Fidelity for ten years. His experience includes being an analyst for the Fidelity Magellan Fund, one of the most successful mutual funds ever.

Mr. Domolky believes in a hands on approach to investing. "I like to talk to a company about three times prior to investing. One contact may not be enough to judge the character of the company," says Mr. Domolky. Fidelity Capital Builder fund is 100% eligible for RRSP's and RRIF's and provides Canadian investors with an excellent vehicle in which to participate in the upturn in both the Canadian economy and equity market.

Rates of return and pertinent other statistical information are detailed in the short form prospectus which can be provided by contacting the author.
