Top performers honored

By JERRY SAUNDERS

Special to the Independent/Free Press

Several Georgetown youths were honored with special awards as Georgetown Minor Hockey Association (GMHA) wrapped up the 1993 rep season recently.

The GMHA presented the awards to the most valuable (MVP), most improved (MIP), and most sportsmanlike (MSP) of each of the nine representative teams that competed this season.

The MVP trophy is awarded to the player/players that show the ability to lead their team on the ice by example. The team members that showed the poise and leadership qualities of an MVP player from the minor novice age group were Donnie Lane and Al Humberstone. From the Novice category it was Bradley Snow and Graham McCulloch that proved to be a key ingredient to the teams success. Pete Veltman was selected as MVP from the Minor Atom Raiders while Dan Smith and Ryan Carter shared the honor at the atom level. Representing the peewee group it was Ryan Smith and Rick Clark who took the honors for the minor and major categories respectively. The Bantam Raiders were split into two teams, of which Trevor Crane and Fraser Thom took the MVP honors for Bantam 1, while Steve Heinz and Andrew

Craig were the recipients for Bantam 2. Steve Onoprejenko claimed the award at the midget level.

The recipients of the MIP awards were Billy McDonald, Tim Mansfield, Jamie Doole, Roddy Heinz, Joey Goodhew, Sean Dunlop, Dave Welburn, Gary McNiven, and Seth Homer.

As you can see from the extremely successful career of Wayne Gretzky, staying out of the penalty box can enhance your point total drastically. It was these fine players that showed the restraint needed to stay away from the sin bin: Brent Veltan, Brandon Valente, Andre Lefebvre, Derek Mitchell, Ryan Booth, Steve Smith, Rob Pilgrim, Marc Boucher, and Mike Travers.

Final trophy presentation were made to outstanding teams and players. Receiving the Gilmer Trophy was the Major Atom Raiders, while the Minor Novice Raiders accepted the Yeo/Christie Memorial Trophy. The David Hulme Trophy went in a combined effort to Andrew Craig and Steve Heinz. Hockey Mom's awarded the Rep Vezina trophy to Ryan LaRose while Mark Aldridge was awarded the Paul Fendley Memorial Trophy. The first recipient of the Jeremiah Fendley Memorial Trophy was Josh Barber.
