More layoffs at Prestonia

Eleven employees at Prestonia Office Products Ltd. on Todd Rd. were handed termination notices on Monday.

As of July 31 their jobs in Prestonia's file folder division as operator adjusters, machine operators, and general help, will be considered redundant according to Gary Wiese, operations manager for Prestonia in Stratford.

"We wanted to give the employees as much notice as we can," said Wiese.

He said the notices relate to the fact the company's file folder manufacturing division is expected to be sold. The company is currently considering three offers.

Wiese says at this point he is not certain whether or not the new owner will hire the terminated employees.

"The economy is partly responsible for the sale of the division," said Wiese who added he didn't want to comment on the other factors. Prestonia Office Products Ltd. and its joint venture partner American Trade and Production Company (ATAPCO), distribute office products across North America.

After the July layoffs there will only be seven employees remaining at the Georgetown location, six hourly wage earners and one foreman.

Wiese says at this point the company is not certain if they will continue to operate in Georgetown.

"That is still under review. We are trying to negotiate the lease now. If we don't, an alternative would have to be found."

The 11 layoffs for July are the most recent in a series of layoffs at Prestonia over the past year. Last August the company announced up to 40 layoffs, and four other employees in the company's envelope division were terminated on May 28.
