

Sewing association meets Wednesday

This is the time of year to put away the shorts and halter tops and to snug down the garden for the winter. And what else? To get back to the sewing machine of course!

September 28 at 8 p.m. is the Halton Creative Sewing Association's first get together for the 1993/94 sessions. Again we will be at the Georgetown High School Cafeteria on Guelph St. Georgetown and admission will be $4 to cover expenses.

Patricia Maynard of the Perfect

Instant Dress Form Company will be telling us about her product. Finally we have a new and better product available in the Toronto area.

Shirley Lyons will speak on the various threads for sewing. Among the courses bring offered that evening will be collaged coats by Bonnie Glass, and a refresher sewing class concentrating on measuring and altering your pattern before cutting your material, by Joan Lovegrove.

Come out and meet the teachers and see what is being offered.

Looking into future evenings we will have Linda MacPhee, that wonderfully inspiring livewire from Alberta, in November, and in February 1994 we will feature another "Renew Your Rejects" competition. Anyone can submit an entry so start thinking about his one now!

For more information and registration, please call Shirley Lyons at 877-5455.

Workshop for volunteers

The Recreations and Parks Department is offering a training opportunity for not-for-profit organizations.

The first is a workshop called Long and Short Term Planning, which looks realistically at what planning can accomplish and helps you determine how well your organization prepares itself for the future.

The workshop will lead you through the planning cycle, step-by-step.

The workshop leader is Shirley

Marsden of Etobicoke. Shirley is assistant to Mayor Mel Lastman, Mayor of North York, and is involved in many volunteer organizations, i.e. Canadian Figure Skating Association, Big Sister Association, and executive vice president and board member of the Sports Federation of Canada, to name a few.

This workshop is on Wednesday, October 13 at Centennial Middle School, 7-10 p.m.

Spaces are limited. Call 873-2600, ext. 276, for details.
