

Mother Goose arriving in time for Christmas

Stumped as to how you will keep you and your children entertained this holiday season?

Come to the theatre!
This December, Georgetown Little Theatre proudly presents Mother Goose, written by our own Margaret Eggleton-Kaye, directed by funnyman Ron Hunt and under the musical direction of Hayden Evans!

Mother Goose will be presented in the spirit of English pantomime, chock full of song, dance and laughter, all wrapped around the fairy tale of that famous children's storyteller, Mother Goose. Ms. Goose, along with familiar characters like Jill, Simple Simon, and not-so-familiar faces like Demon

Discontent and the Baron of Ballinafad, will keep the smiles coming for the young and young at heart alike Friday, Dec. 10 (7:30 p.m.), Saturday, Dec. 11 (3 and 7:30 p.m.), and Sunday, Dec. 12 (3 and 7:30 p.m.)

Tickets for this fulfilled show with lots of music comedy and colourful scenery are $7 for adults and children, but only $5 for groups of 20 or more!

The GLT box office opens at the John Elliott Theatre Tuesday and Thursday evenings 4-8 p.m. commencing Nov. 16, so be sure to mark your calendars and book tickets to see the original queen of books!

For further information, please call 877-2321.

The aristocratic members of society (Evan Robinson, Nanci McNeil, Mary Billik and David Brock) gather for a weekend of tennis at Hereford in Globe's Me and My Girl, which opens Nov. 18 at John Elliott Theatre.
